WILSON TO TOUR U. S. ON RETURN

President Considering Wide
"Swing Around the Circle"
May Visit Pacific Coast

Plans to Tell Americans of European Conditions and to Learn Sentiment Here

PARIS, Monday, Jan. 13.—(By The Associated Press.) President Wilson is considering a speaking tour of the United States when he returns home. It is said that this trip will take him into many of the principal cities and may touch the Pacific coast. His plans are not yet matured, but it is believed he has discussed the plan with his advisers.

With Congress out of the way early in March, he would have an opportunity for such a tour before returning to Europe, should he follow his original plan and if his return should be necessary. He would also have time for his proposed trip before the convening of an extraordinary session of Congress, should he decide to call one. So far as known, he has no plans for an extra session, but he still holds to his idea of returning to the peace conference, if it is felt his presence is necessary to the success of the league of nations.

The object of his proposed speaking tour would be to inform the country by personal contact of the proceedings at Paris and at the same time sound out and encourage public sentiment in support of the peace principles he has enunciated and which he feels have been accepted by the masses in Europe. There are as yet no official announcements of his purpose, but some of those close to him suggest such a trip is feasible in view of the fact that it is now certain that the peace conference will still be working on its problems during the summer. His friends believe that popular expressions in the United States might support those of England, France and Italy and have great influence on European statesmen.

The president has told his friends that he considers the reception given him by the people of Europe not as personal endorsement, but an approval of his peace principles. His long stay, therefore, to make a speaking tour to give opportunity for popular manifestations of public opinion in his own country.

12 STATES HAVE FLOOD OF LABOR NOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Unemployment of common labor now exists in 12 states, as against seven a week ago, says a message today from the National Council of Defense. It is an expression of the nation's desire to do everything possible to find employment for those needing it.

"The situation as to common labor is materially changed since the armistice was signed," says the message. "Instead of there being a shortage of labor throughout the country, there is unemployment of common labor in 12 states as against seven a week ago."

"The 12 states in which there is a surplus of labor are California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon and Utah. The country's surplus in all labor seem to follow a belt across the country from Connecticut to Minnesota."

"The area of unemployment is increasing and it is probable that the danger point will be reached within a few days. For that reason the secretary of labor request that all state, county and community councils of defense bend every effort toward finding and creating necessary employment during the transition period. Please continue to give every aid to the employment service and the bureau for returning soldiers."

RECOVER NEARLY ALL OF BANK'S LOSSES

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—While the alleged speculations of William Roniker, or William Willis, the 28-year-old clerk of the Manufacturers' National bank of Cambridge, are said to total between $20,000 and $40,000, it became known yesterday that the larger portion of the missing funds have been recovered.

Officials of the bank armed with a search warrant issued by the Cambridge district court and accompanied by Patrolman Charles E. Bradley of the Cambridge police department, went to Roniker's home, 91 Washington street, Cambridge, last Saturday and recovered $150 in cash, a seal skin coat, valued at $450 which Roniker had presented his innocent young wife; a $700 diamond ring and other jewelry.

In addition, the Cambridge bank officials located $5000 in a Boston bank which had been deposited by the erring clerk's wife.

Swift & Company's 1918 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended Nov. 2, 1918 (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted the largest volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Profits of the meat business—under regulations of the United States Food Administration—were limited to a maximum of 9 per cent on capital employed but not to exceed 2½ cents per dollar of sales.

Swift & Company in the regulated departments earned 7.57 per cent on capital employed and 2.04 cents per dollar of sales, out of which had to be paid interest on borrowed money and taxes. Here is how these earnings affect you.

Live-Stock Raiser—

Swift & Company killed 14,948,000 head of livestock, which weighed alive, 4,971,500,000 pounds.

Swift & Company made a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound liveweight.

Consumer—

The sales of our meat departments were 4,012,579,000 pounds on which our earnings were less than ½ cent per pound.

The per capita consumption of meat in the United States is given as 170 pounds. If a consumer purchased only Swift & Company's products, he would contribute only about 78 cents a year, or 1½ cents a week as profit to the company.

SHAW WANTS BAY STATE DISSOLVED

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The dissolution of the Bay State Street railway system into its constituent companies was asked yesterday in an order filed with the legislature by Representative Michael F. Shaw of Haver, directing the attorney general to appear for the people in federal court proceedings and take such action as may be necessary.

MAINE MUST PAY AN ENORMOUS TAX

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 14.—The legislature is called upon to appropriate $20,000,000 in round figures in estimates filed at the office of the state auditor of financial requirements for the next two years. This amount does not include funds to care for dependents of soldiers and resolves already presented to the legislature.

It is estimated that fully $12,000,000 of this amount would have to be raised by direct taxation, which would require a tax of 11 mills for this year and 10 mills for 1920, in spite of increased valuations. The rate was six mills for each of the two preceding years.

PRODUCTION OFFICE HOLDS BANQUET

The banquet hall of the Richardson hotel was the scene on Saturday evening of a gay party composed of members of the production office of the United States Cartridge company. Covers were artistically laid for 50. A six course dinner was served by Raymond C. Roll, steward of the hotel. He also had charge of the hall decorations. The head of the department, Harold Frodsham, was master of ceremonies. He called upon James A. Gudworth, the Bigelow office manager; Herbert Bowler, his assistant of the tool department at Lawrence street, and Walter Roberts, a representative present from the night force, who responded with short speeches. An office prophecy composed by Lilla McPherson was read. Later the tables were cleared and dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Before the party separated the office ode, written by one of the party, was sung. The Titania orchestra very acceptably furnished music during the evening. The committee having the affair in charge were Harold Frodsham, Catherine Sullivan, Margaret Conroy, Trilix Hilday and Edna Desroches.

After Much Trouble Government is Putting Down Bolsheviks

BUEENOS AIRES, Monday, Jan. 13.—Disturbances continued today although 800 of the Bolshevik ringleaders were under arrest. Shots were fired from roofs and windows at policemen, soldiers and street cars. Street car service was abandoned at nightfall. The railway strike has spread from government-owned routes to private lines. The employees of private roads are refusing to work if they are not given armed protection. The harbor is still paralyzed, many ships merely calling here and going on to other ports. An indication of what may be done with the Bolsheviks under arrest, was gained from General Delapalme's headquarters today. He was overheard to say that "the Bolsheviks can organize their soviet at Estuaria" which is a prison on an island at the extreme southern end of the continent. It is shut off completely from the rest of the world.

What "Slow Accounts" Mean

"SLOW" ACCOUNTS mean something more than the mere matter of delay in receiving payment of bills.

THEY MEAN DUPLICATION OF EFFORT the maintenance of records and additional officework that would be unnecessary if such accounts were paid within the reasonable specified time.

BUT MOST OF ALL they mean that labor which might be devoted to necessary tasks essential to the comfort, convenience and efficiency that you derive from your telephone service, is wasted on what should be unnecessary tasks.

AT THIS TIME IT IS DESIRABLE that unnecessary labor be eliminated as much as possible so that the output of necessary labor may be increased.

Subscribers who pay their telephone bills promptly help to conserve labor at a time when the conservation of all labor is a national necessity.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT SOON

Noted English Authority Says
First Successful Overseas
Trip to be in May

LONDON, Jan. 14.—General Branker, who is giving up his post as master-general of personnel in the air ministry to devote his time to commercial aviation, in an interview with the Daily Express yesterday asserted that a flight across the Atlantic probably would be accomplished in May. He added that the trip would be made in one of four types of aircraft available which are carrying the flight.

General Branker said the time was ripe when airplanes would be used and driven as automobiles today. He said it probably will be necessary to establish an air line, the duty of which will be to carry passengers over air routes and frontiers.

The Evening News yesterday said that it has been officially informed that the British admiralty is embarking on a big program of airship construction. Airships are being built with a gas capacity of 2,500,000 cubic feet. These aircraft will have a large lifting capacity and will be able to make between 40 and 70 miles an hour. They will carry crews of 25 men.

Still larger airships are projected, and flights with passengers are predicted for the near future. Several airships which will be equal in size and capacity to the largest Zeppelins, and which are of a similar rigid type, are being built. Primarily they are being constructed for sea work and general observation duty for the navy. These airships, it is said, will be capable of remaining in the air for a week.

The newspaper says a regular airship mail service between England and the United States during the summer of 1920 is regarded as certain by airship builders.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

A wife and two small children were all that saved Thomas L. Healey from a direct jail sentence in police court this morning, after he had pleaded guilty to the larceny of a gold watch from Charles Corcoran of Chelmsford Centre yesterday forenoon. The affair occurred on Gorham street about 11 o'clock. Corcoran testified, all he remembered of the affair being that he met defendant, who was a stranger to him, and that they had several drinks together at a nearby saloon.

Corcoran was found shortly afterwards lying on the pavement near the postoffice, with a badly bruised face, evidently caused from a fall. He was taken to the police station in the ambulance and a doctor called to dress his wounds. Defendant said that Corcoran had slipped as he was trying to board a car, and that the watch had fallen out of his pocket. He had picked it up and was trying to dispose of it in a pawn shop on Merrimack street late yesterday afternoon when the arrival on the scene of Lieut. Maher and Officer Breault brought the transaction to an abrupt close.

Judge Enright was of the opinion that a direct jail sentence would be a world of good, but his wife told the court with tears in her eyes that her husband had always been a

Joseph Dufresne was charged with the larceny of 150 pounds of coal from his next door neighbor, Tony Francis. Francis told the court that for some time he had suspected defendant of making inroads on the family coal pile, and that finally he caught him as he was coming out of his Tony's cellar with about a dollar's worth of fuel on his back.

The arresting officer corroborated Tony's statement, and Dufresne was found guilty and ordered to make restitution for the stolen fuel and also pay the costs of the court.

Valenty Rudolph was found guilty of assault and battery on Alexander Densiewicz and was assessed $20. Alex told the court that defendant had struck him over the head with a bottle the day after Christmas, for what reason he could not say. Valenty's

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Lounnel of North Billerica are rejoicing in the birth of a son. The little stranger arrived Monday.

The 25th division has been ordered home from France, according to a cable sent by Lieut. Col. Charles A. Stevens to his family in this city.

Mrs. Mary Deano will entertain the Lucy Laronc club at the Opera House Wednesday afternoon, and all members of the organization are requested to be at the theatre at 2 o'clock.

The name Jas. F. Heaney was given as one of the bearers at the funeral yesterday of Mrs. Ellen Connors. This was an error. The name should have read James F. Leahy.

Lieut. Joseph M. Reilly of this city, who has been stationed at Camp Devens for some time as an instructor officer, has been mustered out of the service and has returned to private life.

Michael Downs, of the U. S. navy, formerly employed by the Day State Street Railway Co., is in town on a furlough from Norfolk, Va. He expects his discharge in the near future.

The city hall "pick list" is rapidly dwindling. City Clerk Stephen Flynn and Miss Katharine W. Snow, registrar in the health department office, both returned to their duties today after several days' sickness.

Seventeen new cases of influenza had been reported at the office of the board of health up to noon today. The total number reported yesterday was 22.

Francis Brick, a machinist in the United States navy, who has made several trips overseas, is visiting his uncle, Michael E. Brick, of 114 Lilley avenue. Brick's home is in Springfield and he will report for duty at Boston tomorrow. His uncle is a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. John Jacob Rogers visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Nourse, for a few days last week. Mrs. Rogers has been in regular nursing service at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington since last summer, and has again returned to her duties there.

Ten per cent. of the people in Lowell who have been receiving aid from the government on their claims of being dependents of men who fought in the world war were not entitled to such aid, according to the findings of state investigators who have gone over the matter. The local state aid office has been notified to cut them off the list at once.

A surprise party was held Sunday evening in honor of Miss Ida M. Friedman at her home, 113 Grand street, when 50 of her friends gathered there and presented her with a wrist-watch. The presentation speech, being made by Miss Sarah D. Shapiro. The recipient, although taken by surprise, responded in a most charming manner. The house was lavishly decorated with red, white and blue bunting, while a corner of the living room was partitioned off where a gypsy fortune-teller, most ably impersonated by Miss Bessie Borash, told of the past, present and future. As the fortune-teller was in possession of a great many facts concerning the lives of those having their palms read, many interesting facts came to light. A mock marriage was held, with two of Uncle Sam's representatives taking the parts of the bride and groom; and the guessing contest proved to be one of the most novel features of all, with a beautiful prize for the lucky winner. A race musical program was given, which included vocal, piano and violin solos. Guests were present from Chelsea, Cambridge and Lawrence. Not until the wee hours of the morning did the party break up, all thinking the hostess, Mrs. Charles Friedman for her kindness, Miss Mae Levine and Miss Sarah D. Shapiro had general charge of the affair.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Every feature connected with the new contagious hospital in Vacuum avenue with the one exception of the sewer supplying it will be wholly completed within a week, according to Commissioner Marchand of the public property department. Fires will be lighted in the boiler room of the buildings within a day or two, as soon as the civil service commission forwards the names of several firemen who can be assigned to the place.

REPUBLIC SHORT LIVED

Luxembourg as Republic Lasted but 6 Hours—Absorption by France Soon

GENEVA, Jan. 14.—Details of the proclamation of a republic in Luxembourg which have reached here say that revolutionists forced an entry to the palace of Grand Duchess Marie on Friday and demanded her abdication. She refused on the ground that the parliament had not made such a request. She was given 24 hours to leave the capital and was told that she would be permitted to take only her personal effects. She consented to go to her chateau outside of the city.

In the meantime, parliament held a disorderly meeting. She had a minority following, mainly clericals. As a protest, they left the parliament building in a body. It is stated that feeling against her is due to the fact that she received former Emperor William, the crown prince and other German officers and also permitted her sister to become engaged to Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. It is said the people desire to be absolutely independent of German control. Reports received here declare that it is improbable that she will return at once to the city of Luxembourg.

Republic Lasted Six Hours

The republic of Luxembourg, which was proclaimed on Thursday by the committee on public health, lasted only six hours, according to a report to the Express from Brussels, which adds that French military authorities restored order.

The faction in Luxembourg which proclaimed the establishment of a republic there has decided to send an official delegation to Paris, according to the Journal des Debats. The newspaper adds that the movement favorable to the annexation of Luxembourg to France is growing stronger and that

Had Chronic Stomach Trouble Fifty Years

Mr. Pleitz Finally Found How to End It—He's 88 Years Old

"I had been afflicted for 50 years with chronic stomach trouble and dyspepsia, and spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief. For years I have had to go to the water closet as often as eight or twelve times during the night, on account of my bowels. I had to be very careful what I ate and could not eat fruit at all.

"I have used but four bottles of Milk Emulsion and it has benefited me more than all the other medicines I have taken. I can go to bed now and sleep the whole night, and can eat fruit without hurting me."—Win. M. Pleitz, 513 South 13th St., Springfield, Ill.

When Mr. Pleitz wrote this letter, he was 88 years old, and his age is hard to believe at that age. Don't suffer for 50 years, as he did, don't suffer another week! Milk Emulsion costs nothing to try.

Milk Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and purgatives. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down, nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles along with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.25 per bottle. The Milk Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Fred Howard, Adm.

MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB

A very enjoyable musical program was carried out at the meeting of the Middlesex Women's club in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon, when Jaques Thibaud, the eminent French violinist, entertained with Nicolai Schnerer as accompanist.

The hall was filled to capacity and the audience lingered at the close of the recital, while Mr. Thibaud responded to the applause and rendered several encores. It may be said in connection with this artist that his playing has not been equaled here for many years. Although one or two numbers stand out as being particularly elaborate, still they were all admirably rendered and with such grace and charm as to make a deep and lasting impression.

The piano accompaniment by Mr. Schnerer added not a little to the success of the program.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

Mr. H. E. Salisbury, 11 Caddell Ave., Lowell, says:

"I started to get deaf in my right ear a number of years ago. It gradually grew worse and worse, until finally it was useless. I had to depend upon the other ear entirely for hearing conversation.

"I had been led to believe that deafness was incurable, but having heard so much about the wonderful results obtained by Dr. Powell's treatment, I concluded to try it. Today my hearing is perfect. The ear that had been dead to sound for so many years has been restored to usefulness.

"I wish to say that Dr. Powell's treatment is based upon scientific principles and was a revelation to me. I cannot praise it too highly."

Letters From Lowell Soldiers

Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., of the Immaculate Conception church and spiritual director of the O.M.I. Cadets, has received a number of interesting letters from his "boys" who are now in the service. Corp. Thomas E. Clark, Robert J. Leith, E. Clark, and William Conroy, former major of the Cadets, have all written to Mr. Sullivan lately and parts of their letters are reproduced below.

Corp. Thomas E. Clark

Dear Father:—I am overseas with the 10th army candidates' school training for a commission at Lausanne, France. His letter to Mr. Sullivan follows:

Thanksgiving Day, 1918. A fine time to write and as it is a long time since I wrote you I thought I would take this opportunity to write you an army candidate school, training for a commission. This school is located in an old French fort and is one of many schools situated in the forests of France. There are 20 schools in something like 18 or 20 schools in this district, embracing nearly every arm of the service. This one is for infantry officers. There are about 1000 men training here in the forests of the 10th, 11th and 12th companies. I am in the 10th. Our company is divided into four platoons of seven or eight men each. Each platoon has a lieutenant as instructor. Our daily routine consists of drills, conferences, lectures and study periods.

The hardest part of it is having to soldier now that the war is over and all our thoughts are on going home. It is now that I appreciate the training I received under you in the O.M.I. Cadets, as it was on that record of knowledge received there that I was sent to this school.

But enough of school, this is a holiday. This Thanksgiving day is not much like any other as it is my first away from home and I hope, the last. To begin with, we "ain't" got no turkey or stuffing here. It was made from pickled meat in the A.E.F. While I do not consider myself a good man in the kitchen, I am one of the best. We have a band of 12 men and it is a dandy. We have fine quarters and a room with electric lights and a piano. We are treated almost as good as officers, having about three hours' work per day.

We spent two days (last Saturday and Sunday) in the famous Alsatian city—Metz. It's just like an American city, street cars, theatres, etc. Ninety per cent of the population speak German and French, fifty per cent speak German, French and English, and ten per cent speak German only. Everyone in Metz likes the Americans. I can't make this letter much longer as I've got to get cleaned up for tomorrow. President Wilson arrives in our city (Chaumont-Haut) tomorrow and we have to do the musical honors.

My regards to all the cadets and tell them I expect to be back with them soon again—if you have a place for me. Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year, I remain as ever,

Your Cadet, BOB.

Private William Conroy

Private William Conroy, former major, tells of his experiences "over there" in the following vein:

Somewhere in France, Nov. 27, 1918.

Dear Rev. Father:—I am still enjoying the best of health and hope that you and all the boys are enjoying the same. I hope you are not writing before but I haven't had much time as we have done quite a lot of traveling and have had quite a bit of experience since writing to you last. I was transferred back to my old outfit, Co. C, and then we were sent into the M.G.E., a national guard outfit, from Iowa. They have been over here for a year but we certainly had some trip before joining them as being in the French lines is not very comfortable, and then hiking and sleeping in barns.

After reaching the town of Seller-Sur-Cher we were put into a castle that was built six hundred years ago and one part of it was built in the ninth century.

I suppose there was some celebration in the states when they heard about Germany quitting, and I would like to have been there to enjoy it. But I think it won't be long before I will be back.

I received some Lowell papers the other day and saw where the Cadets did some wonderful work during the epidemic that was in Lowell. Tell you, father, whatever is wanted in any line, do it good you can always see the Cadets first. While some are over here the boys at home are doing good back home, by all the reports we are getting over here.

Well, father, I suppose by the time you receive this it will be around Christmas, and although I won't be home as I would like to be to attend your Christmas tree, I wish you and all the boys a merry and happy Christmas.

I will close now as it is near chow time, a call we never miss, but will write again soon and also hope to see you and all the boys soon, so I will close now and wish to be remembered to all the boys, and with best regards to you, I remain,

Your Cadet,
PRIV. WILLIAM CONROY.

Frank Donnelly, a Lowell boy aboard the U.S.S. North Dakota with the 10th army candidates' school, has sent several views of members of his crew taken Christmas morning to The Sun, accompanied by the following explanatory letter:

Dear Friend:—I am sending two post card views of myself and members of the baseball team aboard the U.S.S. North Dakota taken Christmas morning on the starboard side of the ship. One of the 12-inch guns on the fore-castle.

They have a snappy team aboard this battleship. We have played three games so far and have won them all. The weather is very warm here during the day and at night it is cool.

The crew and officers are staging a fine event New Year's day, a boxing bout between Young Kersky, a fireman aboard the North Dakota who was a professional boxer before he enlisted in the navy, and Benny Sunday, a marine, who fought ten rounds to a draw with Benny Leonard. These boys are both New Yorkers and there is great rivalry between them.

We had a fine program here Christmas eve, with moving pictures, drama and boxing.

Your friend,
FRANK DONNELLY.

The world owes thanks to the genius in Cincinnati who discovered Frezzone.

Tiny bottles of the magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents.

You simply apply a few drops of this frezzone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose

For a few cents one can now get rid of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of feet without any pain. Ladies! Keep it on the dresser.

Young women were therefore sent out to be married to the settlers. But, before any man could marry one of these, he was obliged to gain her consent, and to pay the cost of her passage, which was about a hundred and fifty pounds of tobacco."

BUYING THRIFT AND WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Even though the armistice has been signed and peace is in sight, the people of the Spindle City are still backing up their government by buying Thrift and War Savings Stamps. Postmaster John F. Mehan said today, and he is very well satisfied with the manner in which the 1918 sales are coming in. In regard to the new W.S.S. certificates, Mr. Mehan said: "The supply of War Savings certificates for 1918 through an unavoidable delay at the printing office did not reach Lowell until today. These certificates are now available for the public at the post office. It should be understood that War Savings Stamps of the series 1918 must not be affixed to War Savings certificates intended for the 1919 series; on the other hand War Savings Stamps of the series 1919 must not be attached to certificates of the 1918 series."

ANOTHER ROCKLAND WOMAN ATTACKED

ROCKLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—A woman named Young was assaulted on Main street by an unknown man with a club.

The woman's father, Hiram Young, who was only a short distance behind her, ran to her assistance and struggled with the assailant, who broke from his grasp and disappeared in the darkness.

The affair took place in a business section of Main street.

The police and a posse of men are scouring the vicinity for the man, who is described as a short man.

Coming so soon after the murder of Mrs. Carolyn Welt Brown, who was clubbed to death on the night of Dec. 20, the event has thrown the town into great excitement and alarm.

Mansfield Not the Ex-Convict

Frank S. Mansfield of Boston, who was arrested in Saco Sunday, charged with murderous assault upon Mrs. Raymond E. Small of this city, July 11, is not James Black, alias "Boss" Mansfield, for whom the authorities are looking in connection with the murder of Mrs. Brown.

That Mansfield's appearance did not at all tally with the portrait of the ex-convict was manifest to the local officers when the khaki-clad suspect arrived on the noon train yesterday, and Deputy Warden Eaton of the Maine state prison last night positively declared he was not the man sought.

County Atty. Henry L. Withee announced these facts to the newspapermen, but declined to state when formal action would be taken against Mansfield, if at all.

"No charge has yet been preferred against the man," said the county attorney.

Mansfield was placed in the same cell that Olli Puorilainen had occupied. This he evidently regarded as good omen, for he told the officers that his release was only a matter of time. He was plainly nervous and ill at ease when taken to the grand jury room yesterday afternoon and subjected to a rigid examination by County Atty. Withee.

REAL "NICKEL GRABBERS"

Maine Commission Says Conductors' Thefts Threaten Bankruptcy

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—Practically charging that the loss of revenue to the Portland street railway by thefts of conductors has crippled the finances of the corporation, the public utilities commission last night issued an order which makes it compulsory that tickets shall be sold on all lines controlled by the company, and that cash fares shall be accepted, but at a sufficient increase to make it a penalty to offer them.

"We do not undertake to say how general the misappropriation of fares by conductors has been," reads the order. "We are satisfied that the evil has existed to an unfortunate extent."

The order urges the public and corporation to get together and co-operate, enforces employees for creating dissatisfaction by criticizing their employers, and declares the recent war labor board order increasing wages means $150,000 per year greater burden on the company, which must be relieved by a slight additional fare increase.

PARISH TEA MEETING

A large number of people were present at the parish tea meeting which was held at the First Primitive Methodist church, Gorham street, last Saturday night, in observance of the 40th year of the church organization. Following an excellent luncheon served by the ladies, the meeting, which was in charge of the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews, was given over to music and addresses, as follows: Solos by N. W. Matthews, Jr., and Bertram Neill; addresses were delivered by the Rev. Lee Ashton, Rev. G. W. Dale, Rev. Alfred Humphries, Rev. John Singleton and Rev. C. H. Kershaw, a former parishioner of the Gorham street church, and who was ordained to the ministry in the church when it was dedicated in 1874.

On Jan. 5, Rev. Mr. Matthews began his 27th year of preaching in this city.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delicate paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered talc. This is spread upon the hairy surface for two or three minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining talc. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is talc alone you buy.

IN EVERY MANUFACTURING CITY

The newspaper with the largest circulation is always an evening paper. Why is this so? Because the masses in such a community have no opportunity to read in the morning. Neither do they have time to read during the day. They read when evening comes, they do not want a morning paper in the evening, and when evening comes, they do not want a morning paper containing the news of yesterday. They prefer an evening paper with the news of

Advertisers who want to reach the masses, the toilers who earn their money in Lowell and spend it in Lowell, should bear this fact in mind. The people who trade in Boston read morning papers. The people who trade in Lowell read evening papers, and the leader of all the local papers, is

THE SOLDIERS' RETURN

One of the shocks that await some of our returning soldiers will be equal to any they met in war and of a nature for which there is no remedy. One such case has been forcibly brought to public attention in the return to his home of a sturdy Indian soldier known as "Private Dog-Eyes" who rendered gallant service in the war.

This Sioux warrior was called by Uncle Sam from his Rosebud cabin where aged parents tried their mightiest to "carry on" until the pride of their Redskins hearts came back. They couldn't understand this white man's war, and they couldn't understand how it was that some invisible hand reached away up into their South Dakota cabin and took Dog-Eyes, stalwart and strong, and their only child.

The other day Private Dog-Eyes came back, back to the camp where he had started his war adventure. The lieutenant called him to his tent and told him that while he was fighting so bravely and nobly over there, the angels of death had visited his mother and father. The little house on the prairies is now empty. Neighbors say that his father and mother died of broken hearts, each hoping to reach the "happy hunting ground" to which they thought their boy had already gone.

The government is going to give Private Dog-Eyes an honorable discharge and he is going—

"To where they lay," he said stoically, uncomplaining.

Out on the wind-swept prairies of the Rosebud country are two Indian graves. In the nearby cabin window flaps a worn, home-made service flag. That is the story of Dog-Eyes' war sacrifice.

We have said much about the sacrifices of war, the brave boys who will never come back to saddened homes, those others who gave of their courageous bodies to achieve victory, and now we are reminded by the story of Dog-Eyes that many a war veteran will come home to find vacant chairs, hearts of loved ones stilled and their eyes closed in eternal sleep.

With them we sincerely sympathize and for them we invoke the healing aid which God and time alone can give.

It is a reminder that in the quiet haunts of peace, death was busy as well as on the bloody fields in the fiercest conflicts of the war.

IN EMERGENCIES

Government ownership of public utilities is not to be commended except in extreme cases. The country, however, has had sufficient experience with government ownership to realize its value in emergencies. For example, if in the future a great railroad strike should tie up the transportation system of the country, the people would not regard with such trepidation the assumption of control by the government. In reality, it is utterly absurd to allow the interests of the public to be completely ignored in such a case, while the government stands idly by to see its counsels derided or defied.

It is to be presumed that after the railroads are turned back to private owners, there will still remain enough of government control to protect the public interests. The same condition should prevail in regard to all public service corporations. The time has come by when the rights of the people can be trampled under foot by any class or on any pretext whatsoever. Government authority properly asserted in the interests of the people offers protection in such cases; but permanent government ownership would involve evils fully as great as government control may sometimes prevent in extreme emergencies.

The world war was a great emergency and to enable the railroads to meet the transportation needs of the nation the government took over the railroads and with good effect. In due time the government will turn the roads back to the private owners, but under widely different regulations as to the plan of operation.

BANISH THE THUG

Judging from recent news in police circles, there seems to be a tendency to lawlessness among the youth of the city. This may result from lack of employment or from an idea possessed by some young men that they can live without working. Others seem to think that the community owes them a living and that if they cannot get it in a lawful manner, they will resort to other methods. It remains for the police department to suppress any tendency of this kind and to keep track of the young men who lead idle and dissolute lives.

It is rather unfortunate that many of our police officers seem to go around with their eyes open yet seeing nothing. Most of them are sadly lacking in habits of observation. They might well take a few lessons in the valuable art of detecting criminals from Lieut. Martin Maher. It may be, however, in some cases, that the officers do not care to invite trouble by following up criminals and preventing wrongdoing in the districts in which they are assigned. An officer who connives at any violation of the law is unfit for the service and should be removed. Rather do we assume, however, that the worst fault of the Lowell police officer is carelessness, but this must be overcome if the department is to stamp out lawlessness wherever it may exist in any part of the city. The laxity of some officers counteracts the vigilance of others and injures the whole department.

If every police officer, high or low, did his full duty, the genus "thug" would find no abiding place in Lowell.

THE AUDITORIUM

The plan proposed by the directors of the board of trade for a public memorial to the men and women who served in the war and to take the form of a great Auditorium, has been well thought out, as the bill presented to the legislature indicates.

"The Lowell Auditorium," as the building is to be known, will answer a double purpose. It will, first of all, serve as a fitting tribute to the men and women who offered their lives in the service of their country, and will also supply the very great need for a public hall in which public meetings can be held. The lack of such a hall has been a serious handicap to our city ever since old Huntington hall was burned down. As a result, the masses of the working people have missed many sources of education through public lectures which would have been held but for the difficulty of securing a hall. Moreover, the Auditorium will offer accommodation to conventions that require large space such as the Elks, the Eagles and other fraternities.

The form of memorial proposed is, therefore, one in which a patriotic duty is united with public necessity. The ordinary soldier's monument is commonplace, as are many other forms of memorial adapted mainly for ceremonial purposes or for the ornamentation of public squares. The Auditorium is the proper idea and when the building shall have been completed, Lowell will have admirably overcome one of her principal drawbacks in the past.

TRADES FOR SOLDIERS

If the announcements in recent stories from Camp Devens be true, it appears that the war department has arranged to turn many of the enlistments into military universities in which the soldiers are to be taught a variety of trades, each man to be assigned to the trade for which he is best adapted.

That is a splendid idea as it may help many of the men to find something better than they had before entering the army. But if this training be offered only on condition that the men enlist for a definite period, it may not be so acceptable as would otherwise be the case.

If the soldier is to be given any special training, why should it be given only on condition that he shall part with his freedom and bind himself to future service?

Just at present, there is no certainty that any army will be needed after the peace conference has ended its work. If not, it is presumed that the enlistments under this trade law will not mean anything.

But at present they would mean that the government had a first mortgage on the future of the man who has enlisted. If he has to serve in the army, of what use will be the trade which he may learn to improve his opportunities in civil life?

PAY IDLE SOLDIERS

There is a feeling quite prevalent at the present time, that the government is guilty of ingratitude in turning the soldiers out to shift for themselves without money and, in thousands of cases, without the opportunity of employment for months after their discharge.

Every soldier on being discharged, should get at least two or three months' pay to tide them over the dull period and keep them until they manage to find employment.

At the present time, there are many discharged soldiers in Lowell who are unable to find work. They gave up their jobs to enter the service. Now that the war is over, they find they cannot return to those jobs, and hence they will have to spend some time in idleness. It would be only what these men deserve if the government paid them, say for a few months, so that they may not suffer during their unemployment.

Various schemes are talked of for the benefit of the soldiers, but none of them has reached the stage at which they amount to anything more than talk and speculation. Plans for the irrigation of waste lands in the west are in contemplation, but that does not help the soldiers just discharged from service. What is needed is immediate relief for which the prospect is rather discouraging. Our city government should keep track of the soldiers returning here and find how many of them go to work and how many remain idle. For the latter, something should be done and done without delay. These men apparently have a just claim on the federal government if they cannot find work.

THE RIVER PROJECT

Representative Jewett is sponsor for the bill providing for the appropriation of a million dollars to meet the state's part of the expense of making the Merrimack river navigable. The time limit of three years is fixed to meet the possibility of delay. This money was voted before, but owing to the war, the project was abandoned.

As to the merits of the project, it is needless to bring up the discussion again. The points have been gone over so many times that they are familiar to all. It should be remembered that as a result of the war, the eyes of the people have been opened to the necessity of such improvement. In view of the progress in textile industries in other sections of the country, it is imperative to make the river navigable from Lowell to the sea in order to maintain the supremacy of the cities of the valley in textile production. The advantage of navigable connection with the ocean means a saving in freight rates, in the price of coal and other supplies which other states have at their doors.

It is to be hoped that the legislature will promptly act upon this measure, as it may be urged as meeting the necessity for public works to relieve the unemployment in the Merrimack valley.

HOW HE FELL

Coradine E. Cragin, 19-year-old bank messenger, who vanished with a big bundle of Liberty bonds belonging to his employers in New York recently, tells the police that a burlesque actress was the cause of his undoing. "Comic" need not give out any such bluff as that with the hope of having anyone believe it. The fact is, that he had begun to gamble and as he had occasionally cleared up considerable sums in poker games, he was on the downward path when he met the actress. While at a burlesque show he said one of the actresses made "good" eyes at him. He met her, took her to supper and then for a taxi ride and to repeat the performance he wanted money and found the chance when entrusted with $135,000 in Liberty bonds. Note the downward steps, first the gambler, then the libertine and next the thief; and for the rest of his days he will live under the damning stigma of his record that will follow him like his shadow wherever he goes. That's what happens to boys who yield to temptation.

THE "FLU"

It is well to remember that the "flu" is still with us and to take all possible precautions against catching it or rather against letting it catch us.

It seems that there is still too much freedom in attending wakes of people who die of the disease. There is a good deal of uncertainty as to how the disease is spread but the evidence that it is communicated from those who have it to others, is too strong to be doubted. Therefore, wise precaution is advisable in all cases in guarding against the disease. It is always a good preventive of disease to build up the health so as to increase the power of resistance and thus be able to cast off the germs when they attack us.

In selecting Frank J. O'Hare as agent for the board of health, Mayor Thompson could not have made a better choice. Mr. O'Hare is one of the most efficient health officials ever connected with the department. Moreover, he had been sharing the responsibility of the office so long with the late Agent Bates, that the appointment of anyone else to the place would have been a very grave injustice to him. He has well earned the promotion by long and faithful service. He is familiar with every phase of the agent's work.

Of course the fact that Paderewski plays the piano is sufficient cause to warrant his condemnation and death by the Bolsheviks. It is hoped for the sake of Poland as well as for the great artist and patriot himself that he will quickly recover and that his aspirations for a free Poland will be realized.

Mrs. Newell—Well, dear, I've found a dot and the street cars go right past the door.

The Horrid Man

"That's done it!" thought the suburbanite when he saw his next door neighbor coming up his front garden path.

"I've come to see you about your dog," cried the visitor, approaching. "He has bitten my mother-in-law all over."

"I'm sorry," replied the unfortunate owner of the animal. "It isn't my fault. You had better sue me."

"Who talks about going to law?" exclaimed the neighbor. "I want to buy the pup!"

"CAN I BE CURED?" SAYS THE SUFFERER

How often have you heard that sad cry from the victims of disease. Perhaps the disorder has gone too far for help, but often it is just in its first stages and the pains and aches are only nature's first cries for help. Do not despair. The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering and "throwing off" the system, everything goes wrong. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Look for the name on every box. In three sizes, sealed packages. Money refunded if they do not help you.

We Believe This

An amateur sailor was making his first trip across the Atlantic, and was in the throes of mal de mer when the ship's surgeon came across him.

"What's the matter?" was the doctor's caustic query.

"O-o-h," was the only response as the young man rolled over in agony.

"Come, get up," derided the surgeon, grinning unfeelingly. "The ship's been torpedoed and will sink in 10 minutes."

"Ten minutes!" the sick man protested feebly. "Can't you make it any sooner?"

Kinder Raw Deal

The orderly officer was on his usual round. "Any complaints?" His voice sounded above the din of knives and forks.

"Yes, sir," answered a healthy-looking representative of the Tommy Atkins tribe. "This here blinking joint's raw!"

"Look here, my man," said the officer, after due examination, which proved this complaint to be justified. "Do you know that Capt. Webb trained on raw beef in order to swim the channel?"

"Oh," said Tommy Atkins, "I thought as 'ow we was goin' across in boats!"

Behind the Scenes in France

Back of the stage where our boys swept through to victory the real heroism occurs, there in the pain-swept hospital wards with no excitement to supply the glamour. It takes a real hero to be brave when the danger has gone and the days ahead look gray and dreary.

In France Clara Savage, foreign correspondent for Good Housekeeping, turned aside from the tide of men hurrying to the front, to do her part in a little hospital behind the lines. Listen to her story of just one of the heroes of the American advance:

A boy in the opposite corner of the room wanted a letter written. "To my girl," he explained in a low voice. "Bring your chair up close so the other fellows won't hear everything I say."

I obeyed, and the letter began. It was the simplest and most straightforward of love letters. The writer did not search for polished phrases; the words came tumbling out faster than I could write them, straight from the heart, beautiful in their sincerity.

Then he said something about their having a little house of their own some time, and there he paused.

"Would you tell her?" he asked me.

"What?" I asked, taken by surprise.

His head was done up bandaged so that only one eye showed; his right arm was in a sling. He dismissed the arm wound as nothing. "I'll be all right," he said. "I can work for her, but I've lost my right eye, and my face is badly disfigured."

I couldn't say anything for a minute. I felt the other eye watching me. Such courage and pluck and straightforwardness as were in that look!

"It must be pretty hard for a girl to have a man come home mutilated the way I am," he said. "Do you think it will make a difference to her? Do you think a girl can love a man with a face that has been all smashed to pieces and a glass eye?"

There was only one thing to say, and I believe it is the truth. I said: "If she loves you, she won't care what your face looks like. She loves you because she found you fine and good and worth loving, and she will love you more now because you are so brave."

"Then I'll tell her," he said. And tell her he did, gently but as truthfully as he had told me. As I wrote these words that some girl in America will read, I pitied her from the bottom of my heart, and yet I knew that if she is the kind of a girl that boy thinks she is, she will be brave and will love him even more now, because he so much needs her love.—January Good Housekeeping.

next but a companion building in another part of the Highlands, down near the Middlesex street line or over in the direction of Middlesex Village, to take care of children living in that section. Some of the commentators argue that there's no great wisdom in tacking on an annex to the Morey school now which will be filled up within a few more years. Some of the pupils who attend the school now have to walk quite a distance and it is claimed that the Boston & Maine people are making improvements in that section of the city which will make it thrive even more than it has been doing. They are of the belief that a brand new school house will be the most economical proposition in the long run, but whether the term "new school" will awe the city fathers enough to frighten them, while a mere "annex" is less inspiring in its probable cost, remains to be seen.

"How do you like the Bay State increasing its fare," a citizen asked a deskman on one of the Lowell papers? "Fine," he replied. This caused some wonder and he was asked to give an explanation of why the fare boost pleased him. This is what he said: "I really needed exercise and I neglected getting it for myself. As everyone knows walking is one of the best kinds of exercise you can have but it was so easy to hop on a car and ride home for a nickel that I spent the nickel and passed up the chance for the exercise. When the Bay State thought it would charge me five cents a day more I planned my daily routine so that I started from home a little earlier and instead of riding, I walked to work. I find I arrive at the office and my desk feeling as the English say, 'Top hole.' That's why I say the Bay State's boosting its fares suits me fine."

Lucky indeed are those Lowell men who, when the mill where they work, closes down Friday night, know some place off in the country where they can hike to and earn perhaps seven or eight dollars chopping cord wood, at the same time enjoying the good fresh winter air and perchance, some excellent country food. The Sun is printing quite a series of Thrift interviews from well informed men in the community and it occurs to me that one is something that can be turned into thrift—meaning turned into money—for it is better to devote spare time to some work than to complacently wait for Monday morning to come around again.

I find there are many people looking forward with considerable eagerness to the Matthews Glee club minstrel which take place at Associated hall, Thursday, Jan. 15. I guess it is going to be a pretty good musical show. The chorus will have 60 fine male and female voices and there will be a lot of Knights of Columbus.

THE GERMS OF INFLUENZA

The Influenza Bacilli are exceedingly small, those shown in the above cut being magnified about 600 times, under the microscope. After these germs get into the blood, and we suffer from Influenza, the disease leaves us with thin, watery blood—weak, anaemic, and unable to do our accustomed work.

What's to be done in such cases? Put iron in your blood and the cells become round and red. They lose the irregular shape and you gain in vim, vigor and vitality. The best combination of iron for the blood is in the form of a new iron tablet, put up by Dr. Pierce, called "Ironics." You will find, instead of pale cheeks, feelings of lassitude, tired, worn-out before the day is half done, after taking "Ironics" your cheeks will have color, you will feel strong and vigorous and ready for the fray. Start now and you will be surprised how full of vim, vigor and vitality you will feel in a few short weeks.

Keep the system in good order, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air and practise cleanliness. Remember a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels are a protecting armor against disease. To keep the liver and bowels regular and to carry away the poisons within, it is best to take a vegetable pill every other day, made up of May-apple, aloes, jalap, and sugar-coated, to be had at most drug stores, known as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. If there is a sudden onset of what appears like a hard cold, one should go to bed, wrap warm, take a hot mustard foot-bath and drink copiously of hot lemonade. If pain develops in head or back, ask the druggist for Anuric (anti-uric) Tablets. These will flush the bladder and kidneys and carry off poisonous matter. To control the pains and aches take one Anuric Tablet every two hours, with frequent drinks of lemonade. The pneumonia appears in a most treacherous way, when the influenza victim is apparently recovering and anxious to leave his bed.

PRESIDENTS DIE YOUNG

Our Great Men Do Not Live as Long as They Used
To in Olden Times

Our presidents die too young! So says Professor Irving Fisher, professor of economics in Yale University, and chairman of the hygiene reference board of the National Life Extension Institute.

The passing of Colonel Roosevelt is the latest example of this sad situation. Furthermore, our presidents do not live as long after assuming office, as they used to.

Professor Fisher has prepared the following article and table of statistics to bring these facts before the American public.

BY PROF. IRVING FISHER, Professor of Economics, in Yale University; Chairman Hygiene Reference Board, Life Extension Institute.

The unexpected and sudden death of ex-President Roosevelt reminds us once more of the regrettably high mortality of our public men.

Mr. Roosevelt became president in September, 1901, at the age of 43, the youngest age among all of our 27 presidents. According to the American experience table, used by life insurance companies, the "expectation of life" at the age of 43 is 26 years.

But President Roosevelt lived only 17 years beyond the age at which he became president—that is, he lived only 65 per cent. of his expectation.

That President Roosevelt should live less than two-thirds of his expectation is surprising, because of his supposed great vitality.

Were his case exceptional, our surprise would not be great for nothing of his kind has been due to his infection in South America, to which no other president has been exposed. But we find that premature death is quite the usual thing among our presidents as well as our vice-presidents, senators and congressmen.

The long-lived presidents all belong to the first half of the nation's history and the majority of the short-lived ones belong to the second half. If we group the presidents under four successive periods, approximately equal, and omitting the three who were assassinated, we have the following table:

First period Four Presidents
156 per cent.

Second period Eight Presidents
81 per cent.
Third period Seven Presidents
61 per cent.
Fourth period Five Presidents
60 per cent.

The table shows that the longevity of our presidents, omitting the two who were murdered, is only 61 per cent. of that expected according to the insurance table. Moreover, this, in turn, is less than two-thirds the expectation of the insured lives of today, which are longer than the American experience table indicates.

Not also that the longevity of our presidents seems to be diminishing with the increasing complexity of modern life in Washington.

We find the same apparent tendency among the vice-presidents. In fact, the vice-presidents seem to live out a smaller fraction of their expectation than the presidents, excluding the influence of assassinations.

This fact (if it be a significant fact rather than an accidental incident in so small a number of lives) would suggest that the official, social and convivial life at Washington is a greater life-shortener than even the heavy responsibilities of office.

The five presidents of Yale University, for substantially the same period as that of the above table, show a longevity equal to 127 per cent. of their expectations.

lists (only 50 in all excluding duplications) is so small that any statistical conclusions without confirmatory evidence, would be dangerous.

But we have enough lives among our senators and representatives, about 7500, to make the results of undoubted significance, and the results are very similar.

Whatever our political preference, all true Americans will mourn the death of President Roosevelt and acknowledge the great value of his services to his country.

The fact that these services have been cut short and that the lives of our public servants in general are short should set us thinking as to whether a better conservation and utilization of the most useful lives of our countrymen cannot be secured.

GERMAN CITIES QUIET CREATING INTEREST IN CHURCH GOING

Temporary Government Has Apparently Overpowered the Spartacists

BERLIN Sunday, Jan. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—Order has been completely restored in cities outside of Berlin where the Spartacists had established themselves, according to reports received here today.

Twenty-six churches were represented and 138 delegates attended the conference. The Federation of Churches was also represented, and many visitors were present. Following an early session at 5.30, a banquet was served in the vestry by the ladies of the Kirk Street church under the direction of Mrs. Howard Foster.

A turkey supper with all the "fixes" was enjoyed at 6.30, the boys from the various churches making known their presence by special "yells."

A rousing address was given by J. Blaine Withee, community secretary, of Lawrence, who has been very active in boys' work and has recently devoted much time among the non-English speaking men in his city. He rendered valuable assistance in creating enthusiasm to carry on the campaign among men and boys, in the interest of church activities.

It was voted that at the expiration of three months, the committee would meet again to make reports of progress. The following were nominated to be responsible for general supervision: President, James Chalmers; vice president, Osmond Coburn; secretary, Donald Perron; treasurer, Douglas Walker.

At 5.30 Rev. J. E. Kennedy of the First Presbyterian church conducted the meeting. At the banquet Rev. W. C. Townsend of the Worthen Street and Central M. E. churches, offered the prayer and Rev. W. F. English, Jr., pastor of the Kirk Street church acted as toastmaster.

At the later session an interesting feature was the reading of papers which had been written by young men, and dealt with the subjects, "Should a Young Man Attend Church?" by James Chalmers, and "How Can We Get Young Men to Attend Church?" by J. Milton Washburn.

LOWELL CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

Several more Lowell cases were tried in the superior criminal court at East Cambridge yesterday afternoon besides those tried in the morning.

Armon J. Rochford, who had been sentenced to the Concord reformatory at yesterday morning's session on a charge of breaking and entering, had his case reconsidered in the afternoon and his sentence revoked. He was given four months in the house of correction.

Jeremiah Dorgan, charged with the theft of an automobile, the property of Harry Livingston on Nov. 2, was sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction.

Another charge brought against him was that of not stopping his machine after an accident to see what damage had been done and six more months were tacked on to his sentence.

A third indictment, charging him with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor was dismissed.

Alice Merrill, charged with drunkenness, was placed on probation for three months.

James Arthur, charged with breaking and entering the property of Frank Scott on Nov. 4 and stealing five pounds of sugar, pleaded guilty and was placed on probation upon the payment of expenses.

Charles Roarke, charged with being implicated in the same break, was placed on probation.

BIG KNIT GOODS TRADE IF PRICES CUT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—If prevailing war prices are cut this year's business in knit goods and hosiery will reach "enormous proportions" according to members of the Jobbers' Association of Knit Goods, who are having their convention here.

It was asserted that big crops and general prosperity existing throughout the country at the close of the winter indicated "almost limitless" buying capacity on the part of the public. A large increase in export business also was predicted.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easy to use and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Any one who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

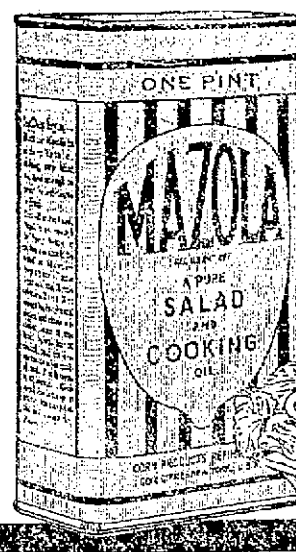

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known as the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MAYONNAISE DRESSING

Yolks of two eggs 1 teaspoon salt
2 cups Mazola 1 teaspoon mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar Dash cayenne
Juice of 1 lemon

Mix seasonings and add to beaten yolks of eggs. Beat with small wooden spoon or silver fork. At first add oil drop by drop, beating vigorously. When too thick to beat add 1 teaspoon vinegar. Continue to add oil slowly, alternating with vinegar and lemon juice, until at least 1/2 cup of oil has been added. Onion juice may be added if desired.

If the oil is added too rapidly, the dressing separates and has a curdled appearance. In case it does, put yolk of another egg into clean bowl, and beat in the curdled dressing slowly. After half cup of oil has been added, dressing may be beaten with a Dover egg beater and oil added more rapidly.

—do you know that Mayonnaise made with Mazola does not separate easily?

MAZOLA is the ideal salad oil. It is not affected by cold weather, which often makes salad dressings curdle when mixed with other oils.

Try Mazola the next time you want to make an exceptionally delicious French, Mayonnaise or Russian dressing.

More economical to use than olive oil, it is preferred by thousands of good cooks who take a particular pride in their salad dressings.

HINES TELLS HIS OWN STORY

Uncle Sam's New Railroad
Boss Writes Own Story of His Life

Tells How He First Became Interested in Railroads—Worked as Attorney

BY WALKER D. HINES
New United States Director General of Railroads

I was born at Russellville, Ky., Feb. 2, 1870. My father was James M. Hines, a son of Warren Walker Hines of Bowling Green, Ky. My mother was a daughter of Walker Downen, a member of the family of Downens living in Christian and Todd counties.

While I was born in Russellville, practically all the first 18 years of my life were spent at Bowling Green, Ky. I was educated at that college at that place, when 11 years old I went to work as a stenographer in the law office of James A. Mitchell and John E. Du Bose.

When I was 16, Judge William F. Dulaney appointed me official stenographer of the circuit court for Warden county. Shortly thereafter I returned to Owen college and two years later graduated with the degree of bachelor of science. After a few more months of stenographic work at Bowling Green, I went to Trinidad, Col., where I spent the year 1889, living with my cousin, Judge Walter G. Hines, who was then county judge for Las Animas county. There I devoted myself to stenographic work in law offices and in court.

First Railroad Work
I then returned to Kentucky, and in March, 1890, became secretary to Judge H. W. Bruce, assistant chief attorney of the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Louisville. After a little over two years in that position, I went to the University of Virginia, and studied law, taking the degree of Bachelor of Laws in June, 1893. I then returned to the law department of the Louisville & Nashville as an assistant attorney, but on account of overwork at the university, my eyes failed and I had to take a six months' leave of absence.

Judge Bruce having become chief attorney of the Louisville & Nashville, I was appointed in 1897 assistant chief attorney of that company, and in 1901 I became first vice president. In July, 1904, I resigned to enter the practice of law in Louisville with Judge A. P. Humphrey and E. P. Humphrey, the firm name being Humphrey, Hines & Humphrey.

In 1905, while pursuing my work as a member of that firm, I met Victor Morawetz of New York, and co-operated with him in some important matters of interest to my railroad clients. Mr. Morawetz was chairman of the executive committee of the Atchafalaya, Topoka & Santa Fe railway, and its general counsel. He wished to retire from active railroad work and suggested that I come to New York and succeed him as general counsel, with a view also to succeeding him as chairman of the executive committee.

I took advantage of this opportunity and came to New York in May, 1906, becoming general counsel of the Atchafalaya, and also engaging in the general practice of the law. I arranged to have my offices with the firm of Cravath, Henderson & de Gersdorff, and in 1907 became a member of that firm.

In 1908 I succeeded Mr. Morawetz as chairman of the executive committee of the Atchafalaya. In 1913 I retired from the firm then styled Cravath & Henderson, but retained my offices with that firm until 1916, when I retired altogether from the general practice and was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Atchafalaya, retaining also my position as general counsel.

I was married in 1900 to Alice Clymer Macfarlane, a daughter of Mr. Graham Macfarlane, originally of Pennsylvania, but living many years in Louisville, Ky., and now living in Clarksville, Tenn. We have only one child, a daughter 15 years old, Helen Macfarlane Hines.

On Railroad's Side

While I was with Judge Bruce in the law department of the Louisville & Nashville, I gave special attention to the Kentucky laws regulating railroad rates, and was active in the original Kentucky long and short haul cases and other rate cases which in some respects were pioneer cases in that sort of law. I was active in the prolonged and unsuccessful contest as to the validity of the so-called McChord law, which was the first law giving the Kentucky railroad commission the power to fix rates.

After coming to New York I was fortunate enough to participate in a number of interesting cases. I made one of the arguments in the supreme court of the United States in the case in which the interstate commerce commission attempted to make E. H. Harman and certain New York bankers answer questions not connected with railroad management.

I was active in the litigation in 1907 which was widely discussed at the time, between the railway companies and the state of North Carolina relative to reduced passenger rates. When congress passed the act prohibiting railroad companies from transporting coal or other commodities mined or owned by themselves (the statute known as the commodities clause) I made one of the arguments in the supreme court of the United States on behalf of the railroads.

I devoted nearly two years to the general inquiry by the interstate commerce commission into the rates and practices of the express companies, wherein I represented the Adams, American, Southern, United States and Wells Fargo companies.

Adamson Law

I devoted over two years to the general inquiry conducted by the interstate commerce commission into the rates on anthracite coal. I represented in that inquiry the group of anthracite carriers, including the Delaware & Hudson, Erie, Jersey Central, Lackawanna, Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania and Reading railroads.

I represented the railroads of the country in the contest argued in January, 1917, in the supreme court questioning the constitutionality of the Adamson act, which sought to give railroad train service employees an increase in pay.

My election as chairman of the board of directors of the Atchafalaya led me more and more into railroad work and my activities in legal work were much less in the past.

MEETINGS OF LOCAL LABOR UNIONS

At a regular meeting of the Molders' union, held last evening with President Fred Mosley in the chair, the following officers were inducted into office: John Wellman, president; Michael Larkin, vice president; Otto Peterson, recording secretary; William F. Mahoney, financial secretary; Bert Dupee, treasurer; George Pardoe, doorkeeper; Martin Larkin, Charles E. Anderson, George H. Keating, Fred Mosley, Patrick Keane, George Pardoe and John Purcell, executive board. The sum of $10 was voted for the St. John's hospital fund and routine business was transacted. The organization received notification from the international board to the effect that the resignation of John R. O'Leary as second vice president had been accepted and that John

NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Billion Dollar Fund Raised To Test Amendment Before U. S. Supreme Court

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)
CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 13.—National prohibition is to be attacked as unconstitutional.

Liquor interests in 11 wet states that have not ratified the dry amendment are preparing to contest the amendment's right to enforce prohibition on these states.

They call it a purely state matter. The United States supreme court will be the battleground.

One million dollars are said to back the anti-prohibition forces.

Levy Meyer, famous Chicago attorney, is to direct the fight.

Minority interests in dry states will be solicited for additional funds. Liquor interests in wet states that have ratified the amendment will be invited to help nullify the actions of their legislatures.

The 11 wet states counted on to back the protest are: Illinois, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, California, Vermont, Wisconsin, Missouri, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island.

Wisconsin and Minnesota have large foreign elements that oppose prohibition. Illinois, Missouri and Wisconsin have large brewing industries. California has the nation's most important vineyards and wine presses. New York, Illinois and Pennsylvania contain the nation's three greatest cities. These states, with New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island, are the centers of great industrial populations. Just why Vermont is counted on to support the protest is not clear, but it's on the wet list.

These states, now wet, have ratified the dry amendment in their legislatures: Massachusetts, Maryland, Kentucky, Louisiana.

Three-quarters of the territory in wet states, however, is dry under local option laws or because of old Indian land restrictions.

In the cases of Indian lands, dry enforcement is already under federal control, as it will be everywhere when the war-prohibition law goes into temporary force July 1, and afterward if the supreme court holds national prohibition constitutional.

peace conference. It has now been decided to issue a joint communique, prepared by a committee representing all the nations, this to be the sole official outgiving. President Wilson has also decided to communicate with more than 190 representatives of the American newspapers in Paris through the medium of a publicity agent. Ray Stannard Baker, a former magazine writer, has been selected.

The plan, as announced today, is for President Wilson or some member of the American mission to communicate to Mr. Baker such details of the proceedings as are not embraced in the communique and which the president desires to make public. Mr. Baker conveying the information to the correspondents. The correspondents will not have original contact with the source of information.

A feature of the meetings yesterday and Sunday was that for more than two hours the discussion was conducted in French, of which neither President Wilson nor Secretary Lansing has a conversational knowledge and which Premier Lloyd George understands only to a limited extent. All the conversations concerning the renewal of the armistice were conducted in French.

Premier Learns English Ideas

Before his departure for Paris, Premier Lloyd George was given a memorandum by the associated chamber of commerce, embodying the views of chambers in all parts of the country regarding peace terms. The following points were urged:

Payment by the enemy of all war expenses.

Compensation for loss of property and damage to property arising out of the war.

Compensation for all personal injuries, including pensions to disabled men, women and children.

Compensation for the loss in national power caused by the death or disablement of potential producers and by the disorganization of means of production and transport.

Payment of all enemy debts and interest on all charges from the date they are incurred until final payment.

Wilson Brazil's Friend

The French press today gives President Wilson credit for the decision by which Brazil obtains three delegates to the peace congress and for that placing the number of committees at five instead of at 20, as the French proposed.

Brazil was given three representatives, Belgium, Serbia, Greece, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and China were assigned two each. Portugal and the states which did not declare war upon Germany but merely broke off diplomatic relations were given one each.

The figure says that when the question of the publicity of treaties and secret diplomacy was discussed, President Wilson, while supporting the majority in favor of secrecy, expressed the opinion that treaties should be made public, although the negotiations leading up to them called for the exercise of a certain discretion.

Representing Delegates

Concerning the representation of each country at the peace congress, the Temps says that the first idea was to make the number of plenipotentiaries proportionate to the importance of the role played by each of the great powers. It now appears that this method has been abandoned and that the conference is inclined to adopt as a criterion the importance of the interest held by each allied or associated power in the regulation of peace.

It is not yet certain that the British dominions will have delegates other than those from England. It was at first announced that the dominions, considering themselves real nations, desired to have distinct representatives.

France, Great Britain, the United States, Italy and Japan will each have five representatives in the peace conference.

This was decided today by the supreme council.

The British dominions will be represented apart from Great Britain. Canada, Australia, South Africa and India, will have two representatives each and New Zealand one.

The size of the representation of each nation was decided, not as proposed by the French, in accordance with the part played by the nation in the war, but following the American and British plan, in proportion to the extent of the interest of each nation in the peace settlement. President Poincaré will open the plenary session of the peace congress on Saturday with an address after which officers will be elected.

MOTHER FORGIVES DEAD HERO'S LIE

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—Unless the war department receives notice of the error in its records, one Portland hero who has paid the supreme sacrifice overseas will never receive official recognition. Private Silas H. Lottey now sleeps in Flanders' fields, "killed in action." But the marker over his grave reads Pvt. John S. Murad.

Less than 17 years old, Lottey was turned down by the recruiting office when his mother refused her consent. He changed his name to Murad, lied patriotically about his age, and, determined to enlist, finally succeeded. It was Mrs. Fiddle Murad, 219 Congress street, whom the war department notified of her son's death, but it was Mrs. Fiddle Lottey who received the telegram that bared a pathetic little secret. "It was the only lie he ever told," says a friend. "I guess God will forgive him."

WILSON TO TOUR U. S. ON RETURN

President Considering Wide "Swing Around the Circle" May Visit Pacific Coast

Plans to Tell Americans of European Conditions and to Learn Sentiment Here

PARIS, Monday, Jan. 13.—(By The Associated Press)—President Wilson is considering a speaking tour of the United States when he returns home. It is said that this trip will take him into many of the principal cities and may touch the Pacific coast. His plans are not as yet matured, but it is believed he has discussed the plan with his advisers.

With congress out of the way early in March, he would have an opportunity for such a tour before returning to Europe, should he follow his original plan, and if his return should be necessary, he would also have time for his proposed trip before the convening of an extraordinary session of congress, should he decide to call one. So far as known, he has no plans for an extra session, but he still holds to his idea of returning to the peace conference, if it is felt his presence is necessary to the success of the league of nations.

The object of his proposed speaking tour would be to inform the country by personal contact of the proceedings at Paris and at the same time sound out and encourage public sentiment in support of the peace principles he has enunciated and which he feels have been acquired by the masses in Europe. There are as yet no official announcements of his purpose, but some of those close to him suggest that a trip is feasible in view of the fact that it is now certain that the peace conference will still be working on its problems during the summer. His friends believe that popular expressions in the United States might support those of England, France and Italy and have great influence on European statesmen.

The president has told his friends that he considers the reception given him by the people of Europe not as a personal endorsement, but an approval of his peace principles. He is being urged, therefore, to make a speaking tour to give opportunity for popular manifestations of public opinion in his own country.

ENGLISH OFFICER IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Lieut. Col. Norman Cecil Rutherford was arrested today charged with the murder of Major Miles Charles Seton of Melbourne. The murder occurred last night at the residence of Major Seton's cousin, Malcolm Collier Seton, secretary of the judicial and public department of the Indian office.

Col. Rutherford, according to the police, was seen to enter the Seton house. The police found Major Seton dead with three bullet wounds in his body.

Major Miles Charles Seton was born in 1874, served in South Africa in 1901-02, and formerly was a captain in the Cape Medical Corps. He was made a companion of the Bath in 1915. He was a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons and a graduate of the University of Edinburgh.

Robinson said that the bank has been a large factor in placing the farmers in position to aid in the solution of the post war labor problem. Associations have been formed in all but 14 counties. Actual loans of $2,000,000 have been made.

TRY HARRIS FOR THEFT

Brookline Army Captain at Devens Accused of Stealing 20 Tons of Coal

AYER, Jan. 14.—Captain Harry J. Harris, charged with appropriating 20 tons of government coal for his own use at his home in Brookline, pleaded not guilty when his court martial began today at Camp Devens. Other charges against Harris include using enlisted men for personal work on his private property and using government trucks to carry personal goods.

The trial is being conducted in the Depot Brigade officers' club before a board composed entirely of colonels and majors, of which Col. John D. Long is president. Lieut. Col. Ira A. Smith, assistant chief of staff, is counsel for Captain Harris, while the prosecution is being conducted by Trial Judge Advocate Captain J. W. Beekwith.

Only one witness, Capt. Charles Smith of the quartermaster's department was called at the opening session. He testified concerning the regular procedure for officers who buy coal from the government. Capt. Smith declared that Capt. Harris came to him recently and asked for a bill for 20 tons of coal. Orders were issued not to make out this bill, he testified, as it was determined that Capt. Harris already had the coal in his possession. Capt. Smith also said that in October, Mrs. Harris visited Camp Devens, and that while talking to her, she remarked she was afraid that she and the children would freeze to death this winter as they could not get a sufficient coal supply.

Col. Smith asked Capt. Smith if he did not say in reply: "If it comes to that, I guess we can fix you up."

This the witness denied. Later he admitted having said something to the effect that arrangements would probably be made for officers' families to buy coal from the government if unobtainable from their dealers.

The courtroom was filled with officers listening to the case and twice during the morning the arguments became so heated that the room was ordered cleared.

RAIDER VICTIMS REACH NEW YORK

Bark Beluga's Officers After Months on German Ship Arrive Home

Tell Vivid Story of Huns' Cruelty to Captives and of Life on Pirate Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Captain A. Olson, skipper of the American schooner Encore, and First Officer M. Buckard of the American bark Beluga, both Californians, have reached New York after months of adventure as prisoners on the German raider Wolf and in German prison camps. They presented themselves today before the United States shipping commissioner with only 15 cents between them, having arrived on the freighter West Hingham from Bremen.

They agreed that they were well treated on the sea raiders, badly used at Kiel, and robbed and cheated and half starved at Villigen, the Germans even keeping the 100 marks permanent sent them by the American government.

Buckard's ship was captured by the raider on July 9, 1917, near Cape Horn, two months after she had left San Francisco, Olson's in the same vicinity on July 14. Both crews were taken aboard the raider and the ships sunk. From that time until February, 1918, they were prisoners on the raider while she cruised in the Southern Pacific, the Southern Atlantic, the Caribbean sea and the coast of Africa capturing and looting allied merchant ships. Then with 320 prisoners aboard she headed for home.

"When the raids were few and far between, the food supply ran low, but we noticed that the crew of the Wolf were given the same fare as we got, and so there was nothing to kick about," said Buckard.

"If I live to be a million years old, I shall never forget our arrival at Kiel, in a blinding snow storm, March 19 last. None of us was warmly clad, and we were herded into an old shed, where we remained 18 hours, suffering from exposure and hunger."

"On the third day we were transferred to the notorious prison at Villigen and a hundred times in the nine months that followed, I wished I was back on the Wolf."

Aspenic soup made of turnips and carrots, with occasionally some cabbage and almost inedible black bread, for which the Germans deducted $1 marks a month from the allowance sent them by the United States, was their prison fare, he said, and "filthy bunks" their living quarters with paper blankets to keep them warm. Several prisoners, he declared, died of starvation, and a large number from disease.

GLOOMY IRISH OUTLOOK

Tory Victories in England Believed to Indicate More Coercion, Says Dublin

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The intention forcibly to suppress the Sinn Fein is attributed to the British government in certain quarters in Ireland, according to a Dublin despatch to the Mail. Modestly there, the correspondent says, are speculating anxiously as to what developments may be expected from a meeting of the council, which the governor general called Monday night at Dublin castle.

The correspondent adds: "Solemn-minded, responsible men take a very gloomy view of the situation. It is feared that the government is about to embark on a new campaign of repression which may include the forcible suppression of the Sinn Fein, with such results as are to be expected when the government takes up armed conflict with 75 per cent. of the population."

The writer traces this fear to the Tory successes in the recent elections in England, which he says, are regarded as having given the "reactionaries" a predominating influence in the state and have created the belief that Ulster will be supreme in determining British treatment of Irish affairs. Viscount French, governor-general, is also credited with the intention to exercise his authority in accordance with military, rather than political considerations.

REDS THREATEN WARSAW BY THREE LINES

WARSAW, Sunday, Jan. 13.—(By The Associated Press)—Bolshevik forces are converging on Warsaw over three lines of railroad. They are advancing from Vilna and have passed Sudzica and Oran. Southwest of Lida they have reached Moly, which is situated on the eastern bank of the Nieman river. Other Bolsheviks are reported near Brest-Litovsk. The German evacuation of Bialystok is holding up the Bolshevik advance in that region.

The number of Bolsheviks is estimated at 20,000 and it is feared that Warsaw is in danger of meeting the fate of Vilna. The Poles have a certain number of soldiers in Posen which may be thrown against the Bolsheviks.

There will be little cause for alarm for possibly three weeks, but the advance of the Bolsheviks has influenced sympathetic elements here. Reports of Spartacist successes in Berlin had an immediate effect in Warsaw.

A Lutz manufacturer, who has arrived here after being driven from that city by the demands of the workmen, said today:

"The allies must understand that Bolshevism is a disease the same as influenza and that it is spreading westward."

VIENNA GUESTS BOLSHIEVIKI

GENEVA, Jan. 14.—Vienna expelled a large band of Russian Bolsheviks on Sunday following the example of the French and Swiss authorities. Twenty of those sent out of the city were spreading propaganda while engaged ostensibly as Red Cross workers. A number of Austrian officers and men from Galicia, who are said to have been imbued with Bolshevist ideas, have been arrested.

BOLSHEVIST DO NOT MENACE US HERE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Bolshevism agitation in the United States shows little likelihood of resulting in open disorder, according to department of justice officials. So far the movement, which investigators say is mainly in New York, is economic rather than political in nature, and it is declared that the organizers have kept well within the law.

Department of justice officials have adopted the attitude that no action can be taken by the government against the Bolsheviks unless federal laws are broken.

SAYS RUIN MAY FACE WIRE COMPANIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Financial losses and, in some cases, ruin for telegraph companies were predicted today by W. H. Lamar, solicitor of the post office department and member of the wire control committee as certain to follow unless government operation of the wire systems should be extended for at least two or three years to permit a general reconstruction of rates and restoration of normal conditions.

Supreme War Council Grants Armistice Extension But Enemy Has to Pay Dear

Marshal Foch is on Way to Treves to Tell German Authorities What to Do

PARIS, Monday, Jan. 13.—The terms approved by today's session of the supreme war council for extension of the armistice with Germany provide that Germany shall hand over to the allies all her cargo steamers in German and other ports to enable the allies to revictual Germany and such adjacent countries as may be decided upon.

The terms also require the restitution of all manufacturing machinery, etc., taken from the invaded regions which it is possible to identify. This was decided upon in the view that it would bring about a quicker revival of economic life than the payment of an equivalent in money. The financial clauses concern the gold reserve of the Reichsbank and the issue of money by Germany. Marshal Foch, when he meets the German armistice delegates, will make suggestions regarding the security of government monetary deposits and the means of issuing banknotes. Guarantees will be required regarding any removal of the Reichsbank's gold from Berlin in view of Bolshevik activities.

The naval conditions demand strict compliance with the requirements of the original armistice concerning the handing over of submarines, which have not yet been complied with. No question was raised regarding the occupation of German ports by the allies, as had been reported.

Examination into the question of allied intervention in Poland against the bolsheviks was postponed by the council.

Marshal Foch today was on the way to Treves to meet the German delegates and lay down terms for the extension of the armistice. There was some disposition during yesterday's conference to make the terms of the extension more drastic than had at first been proposed, but this was not carried out. The extension, however, provides for the turning over to the German commercial fleet to transport troops in exchange for food; for the restitution of material taken from France and Belgium, and for full compliance with the terms of the original armistice.

CITY NEEDS MOVING PICTURE BOOTH

In addition to a new high school, a new public auditorium, a new grammar school in the Highlands and a few other alleged necessities, there now comes the proposition that the city of Lowell is in need of a portable moving picture booth to cost some $200 or $300.

It is pointed out by those who follow matters municipal fairly closely, that the purchase of such a booth and picture machine would be a most economical investment. Its use would be manifold. Among them would be its employment by the park department during the summer months for the open air movies which were so successful last year. Up to the present time the department has had to hunt around for a machine at considerable expense and delay and then pay rental for it.

The health department is also planning to run a series of health pictures here in Lowell, but the big difficulty which has been run up against so far is the lack of proper facilities for this work and as a consequence the exhibition of the films has been more or less limited.

It is suggested that if such a machine and portable booth be bought it might be left in the high school hall and then brought to whatever other building in the city occasion might require. In this way a number of advantageous films might be shown here which at the present time are being missed owing to the lack of proper facilities.

Lawrence has a machine in her high school hall and the expense was only $175. It is estimated that very complete equipment, booth, machine and all, could be secured for $250.

British Business Men Tell Lloyd George "to Make Germany Pay"

With affairs in Germany at least temporarily quieted, the world today wondered what the peace discussions would develop.

The parliament of France convenes today and out of courtesy to it, the peace conference determined not to hold a session. The conference resumes its work tomorrow.

The most important news from the scene of peace discussions today has been the announcement that the first question to come up for discussion at the actual peace conference will be that of the league of nations.

American newspaper readers are evidently to get their news of the peace conference through the mediumship of Ray Stannard Baker, once called, "America's best reporter," the noted magazine writer who has been personally selected by President Wilson to give out to the 100 or more newspaper correspondents covering the conference, the intimate, reliable news President Wilson and members of the American peace commission would tell if they chose to personally meet all these correspondents. Many people expected that this would be George Creel's function but proves not to be the case.

Two of the most significant pieces of news in the cable report today are these:

President Wilson, again the great friend of South America, secured the privilege for Brazil of having three delegates at the peace table.

The other news is, that before starting for France, associated boards of trade of Great Britain gave Premier Lloyd George a memorandum of what they wished him to accomplish for his nation at the peace conference. It shows a strict, stern determination on the part of the British people to make Germany "pay in full" for the terrible war she instigated.

WILSON'S INFORMAL TALKS WITH ENVOYS

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The question of Russian representation at the first formal meeting of the peace conference will be decided at the next meeting preliminary to the congress. This will be held tomorrow, because of the opening of the session of the French parliament today. In preparation, President Wilson planned to engage today in a series of informal conferences with British and French representatives.

A start has been made on the machinery through which the American public will learn of the doings of the league of nations. It is planned for

Swift & Company's 1918 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended Nov. 2, 1918 (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted the largest volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Profits of the meat business—under regulations of the United States Food Administration—were limited to a maximum of 9 per cent on capital employed but not to exceed 2½ cents per dollar of sales.

Swift & Company in the regulated departments earned 7.57 per cent on capital employed and 2.04 cents per dollar of sales, out of which had to be paid interest on borrowed money and taxes. Here is how these earnings affect you.

Live-Stock Raiser—

Swift & Company killed 14,948,000 head of livestock, which weighed alive, 4,971,500,000 pounds.

Swift & Company made a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound liveweight.

Consumer—

The sales of our meat departments were 4,012,579,000 pounds on which our earnings were less than 1/2 cent per pound.

The per capita consumption of meat in the United States is given as 170 pounds. If a consumer purchased only Swift & Company's products, he would contribute only about 78 cents a year, or 1/2 cents a week as profit to the company.

SHAW WANTS BAY STATE DISSOLVED

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The dissolution of the Bay State Street railway system into its constituent companies was asked yesterday in an order filed with the legislature by Representative Michael E. Shaw of Beverly, directing the attorney general to appear for the people in federal court proceedings and take such action as may be necessary.

MAINE MUST PAY AN ENORMOUS TAX

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 14.—The legislature is called upon to appropriate $20,000,000 in round figures in estimates filed at the office of the state auditor of financial requirements for the next two years. This amount does not include funds to care for dependents of soldiers and seafarers already presented to the legislature. It is estimated that fully $12,000,000 of this amount would have to be raised by direct taxation, which would require a tax of 11 mills for this year and 10 mills for 1920, in spite of increased valuations. The rate was six mills for each of the two preceding years.

PRODUCTION OFFICE HOLDS BANQUET

The banquet hall of the Richardson hotel was the scene on Saturday evening of a gay party composed of members of the production office of the United States Cartridge company. Covers were artistically laid for 60. A six course dinner was served by Raymond C. Rolt, steward of the hotel. He also had charge of the hall decorations. The head of the department, Harold Frothingham, was master of ceremonies. He called upon James A. Gidworth, the Biscuit office manager; Herbert Bowler, his assistant of the tool department at Lawrence street; and Walter Roberts, a representative present from the night force, who responded with short speeches. An office prophecy composed by Lilla McPherson was read. Later the tables were cleared and dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Before the party separated the office was written by one of the party, was sung. The Titanic orchestra very acceptably furnished music during the evening. The committee having the affair in charge were Harold Frothingham, Catherine Sullivan, Margaret Conroy, Trilzie Hegley and Edna Dosroches.

After Much Trouble Government is Putting Down Bolsheviks

BUENOS AIRES, Monday, Jan. 13.—Disturbances continued today although 800 of the Bolshevik ringleaders were under arrest. Shots were fired from roofs and windows at policemen, soldiers and street cars. Street car service was abandoned at nightfall. The railway strike has spread from government-owned routes to private lines. The employees of private roads are refusing to work if they are not given armed protection. The harbor is still paralyzed, many ships merely calling here and going on to other ports.

An indication of what may be done with the Bolsheviks under arrest, was gained from General Dellepaine's headquarters today. He was overheard to say that "the Bolsheviks can organize their soviet at Bahama" which is a prison on an island at the extreme southern end of the continent. It is shut off completely from the rest of the world.

Uruguay is Prompt

What "Slow Accounts" Mean

"SLOW" ACCOUNTS mean something more than the mere matter of delay in receiving payment of bills.

THEY MEAN DUPLICATION OF EFFORT the maintenance of records and additional officework that would be unnecessary if such accounts were paid within the reasonable specified time.

BUT MOST OF ALL they mean that labor which might be devoted to necessary tasks essential to the comfort, convenience and efficiency that you derive from your telephone service, is wasted on what should be unnecessary tasks.

AT THIS TIME IT IS DESIRABLE that unnecessary labor be eliminated as much as possible so that the output of necessary labor may be increased.

Subscribers who pay their telephone bills promptly help to conserve labor at a time when the conservation of all labor is a national necessity.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT SOON

Noted English Authority Says

First Successful Overseas

Trip to be in May

LONDON, Jan. 14.—General Brackner, who is giving up his post as master-general of personnel in the air ministry to devote his time to commercial aviation, in an interview with the Daily Express yesterday asserted that a flight across the Atlantic probably would be accomplished in May. He added that the trip was feasible at the present moment, as there were three of four types of airplanes available which are capable of making the flight.

Common as Autos

General Brackner said the time was not far distant when airplanes would be owned and driven as automobiles are today. He said it probably would be necessary to establish an aerial police force, the duty of which would be to watch over air routes and frontiers.

The Evening News yesterday said that it has been officially informed that the British admiralty is embarking on a big program of airship construction. Airships are being built with a gas capacity of 2,500,000 cubic feet. These aircraft will have a large lifting capacity and will be able to make between 60 and 70 miles an hour. They will carry crews of 25 men.

Still larger airships are projected, and flights with passengers are predicted for the near future. Several airships which will be equal in size and capacity to the largest Zeppelins, and which are of a similar rigid type, are being built. Primarily they are being constructed for sea work and general observation duty for the navy. These airships, it is said, will be capable of remaining in the air for a week.

The newspaper says a regular airship mail service between England and the United States during the summer of 1920 is regarded as certain by airship builders.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

A wife and two small children were all that saved Thomas L. Healey from a direct jail sentence in police court this morning, after he had pleaded guilty to the larceny of a gold watch from Charles Corcoran of Chelmsford Centre yesterday forenoon. The affair occurred on Gorham street about 11 o'clock. Corcoran testified, all he remembered of the affair being that he met defendant, who was a stranger to him, and that they had several drinks together at a nearby saloon.

Corcoran was found shortly afterwards lying on the pavement near the postoffice, with a badly bruised face, evidently caused from a fall. He was taken to the police station in the ambulance and a doctor called to dress his wounds. Defendant said that Corcoran had slipped as he was trying to board a car, and that the watch had fallen out of his pocket. He had picked it up and was trying to dispose of it in a pawn shop on Merrimack street late yesterday afternoon when the arrival on the scene of Lieut. Maher and Officer Breaux brought the transaction to an abrupt close.

Judge Earlight was of the opinion that a direct jail sentence would be a world of good, but his wife told the court with tears in her eyes that her husband had always been a

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure and get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention The Lowell Sun—Adv.

Kind provider and a model husband, and that he would never have taken the watch if he had not been drinking. He was finally given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Joseph Dufresne was charged with the larceny of 150 pounds of coal from his next door neighbor, Tony Francis. Francis told the court that for some time he had suspected defendant of making inroads on the family coal pile, and that finally he caught him as he was coming out of his Tony's cellar with about a dollar's worth of fuel on his back.

The arresting officer corroborated Tony's statement, and Dufresne was found guilty and ordered to make restitution for the stolen fuel and also pay the costs of the court.

Valenty Rudolph was found guilty of assault and battery on Alexander Densowicz and was assessed $20. Alex told the court that defendant had struck him over the head with a bottle the day after Christmas, for what reason he could not say. Valenty's reason he didn't like.

Mike Rutshewski and Fella Rutshewski were charged with assault and battery on Peter Liskowicz, and the case was continued until Thursday. Kate Spelacy was charged with assault and battery on Anna Loftus, and the case was also continued until Thursday.

REPUBLIC SHORT LIVED

Luxembourg as Republic Lasted but 6 Hours—Absorption by France Soon

GENEVA, Jan. 14.—Details of the proclamation of a republic in Luxembourg which have reached here say that revolutionists forced an entry to the palace of Grand Duchess Marie on Friday and demanded her abdication. She refused on the ground that the parliament had not made such a request. She was given 24 hours to leave the capital and was told that she would be permitted to take only her personal effects. She consented to go to her chateau outside of the city.

In the meantime, parliament held a disorderly meeting. She had a minority following, mainly clericals. As a protest, they left the parliament building in a body. It is stated that feeling against her is due to the fact that she received former Emperor William, the crown prince and other German officers and also permitted her sister to become engaged to Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. It is said the people desire to be absolutely independent of German control. Reports received here declare that it is improbable that she will return at once to the city of Luxembourg.

Republic Lasted Six Hours

The republic of Luxembourg, which was proclaimed on Thursday by the committee on public health, lasted only six hours, according to a report to the Express from Brussels, which adds that French military authorities restored order.

The faction in Luxembourg which proclaimed the establishment of a republic there has decided to send an official delegation to Paris, according to the Journal des Debats. The newspaper adds that the movement favorable to the annexation of Luxembourg to France is growing stronger and that

Mr. Pletz Finally Found How to End It—He's 88 Years Old

"I had been afflicted for 50 years with chronic stomach trouble and dyspepsia, and spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief. For years I have had to go to the water closet as often as eight or twelve times during the night, on account of my bowels. I had to be very careful what I ate and could not eat fruit at all.

"I have used but four bottles of Milk's Emulsion and it has benefited me more than all the other medicines I have taken. I can go to bed now and sleep the whole night, and can eat fruit without hurting me."—Wm. M. Pletz, 513 South 15th St., Springfield, Ill.

When Mr. Pletz wrote this letter, he was 88 years old, and his age had no effect on his health. Don't suffer for 50 years, as he did. Don't suffer another week! Milk's Emulsion costs nothing to try.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice-cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles, being with you, use it according to directions, and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price, 75c and $1.25 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Fred Howard—Adv.

MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB

A very enjoyable musical program was carried out at the meeting of the Middlesex Women's club in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon, when Jacques Thibaud, the eminent French violinist, entertained with Nikolai Schnerer as accompanist.

The hall was filled to capacity and the audience lingered at the close of the recital, while Mr. Thibaud responded to the applause and rendered several encores. It may be said in connection with this artist that his playing has not been equaled here for many years. Although one or two numbers stand out as being particularly elaborate, still they were all admirably rendered and with such grace and charm as to make a deep and lasting impression.

The piano accompaniment by Mr. Schnerer added not a little to the success of the program.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

Dr. Manno

ANOTHER ROCKLAND WOMAN ATTACKED

ROCKLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—A woman named Young was assaulted on Main street by an unknown man with a club.

The woman's father, Iram Young, who was only a short distance behind her, ran to her assistance and struggled with the assailant, who broke from his grasp and disappeared in the darkness.

The affair took place in a business section of Main street.

The police and a posse of men are scouring the vicinity for the man, who is described as a short man.

Coming so soon after the murder of Mrs. Carolyn Weit Brown, who was clubbed to death on the night of Dec. 30, the event has thrown the town into great excitement and alarm.

Mansfield Not the Ex-Convict

Frank S. Mansfield of Boston, who was arrested in Saco Sunday, charged with murderous assault upon Mrs. Raymond E. Small of this city, July 14, is not James Black, alias "Boston Shorty," for whom the authorities are looking in connection with the murder of Mrs. Brown.

That Mansfield's appearance did not at all tally with the portrait of the ex-convict was manifest to the local officers when the black-chad suspect arrived at the noon train yesterday, and Deputy Warden Eaton of the Maine state prison last night positively declared he was not the man sought.

County Atty. Henry L. Withee announced these facts to the newspapermen, but declined to state when formal action would be taken against Mansfield, if at all.

"No charge has yet been preferred against the man," said the county attorney.

Mansfield was placed in the same cell that Ollie Tuorila had occupied. This he evidently regarded as good omen, for he told the officers that his release was only a matter of time. He was plainly nervous and ill at ease when taken to the grand jury room yesterday afternoon and subjected to a rigid examination by County Atty. Withee.

REAL "NICKEL GRABBERS"

Maine Commission Says Conductors' Thefts Threaten Bankruptcy

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—Practically charging that the loss of revenue to the Portland street railway by thefts of conductors has crippled the finances of the corporation, the public utilities commission last night issued an order which makes it compulsory that tickets shall be sold on all lines controlled by the company, and that cash fares shall be accepted, but at a sufficient increase to make it a penalty to offer them.

"We do not undertake to say how general the misappropriation of fares by conductors has been," reads the order. "We are satisfied that the evil has existed to an unfortunate extent."

The order urges the public and corporation to get together and cooperate, ensures employees for creating dissatisfaction by criticizing their employers, and declares the recent war labor board order increasing wages means $100,000 per year greater burden on the company, which must be relieved by a slight additional fare increase.

PARISH TEA MEETING

A large number of people were present at the parish tea meeting which was held at the First Primitive Methodist church, Gorham street, last Saturday night, in observance of the 40th year of the church organization. Following an excellent luncheon served by the ladies, the meeting, which was in charge of the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews, was given over to music and addresses, as follows: Solos by N. W. Matthews, Jr., and Bertram Neid; addresses were delivered by the Primitive Methodist ministers of the Lowell district, Rev. Lee Ashton, Rev. G. W. Dale, Rev. Alfred Humphries, Rev. John Singleton and Rev. C. H. Kershaw, a former parishioner of the Gorham street church, and who was ordained to the ministry in the church when it was dedicated in 1904.

On Jan. 5, Rev. Mr. Matthews began his 27th year of preaching in this city.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes)

Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delicate paste, made by mixing same water with a little plain powdered talc. This is spread upon the hairy surface for two or three minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.

IN EVERY MANUFACTURING CITY

The newspaper with the largest circulation is always an evening paper. Why is this so? Because the masses in such a community have no opportunity to read in the morning. Neither do they have time to read during the day. They read when evening comes, they do not want a morning paper in the evening, and when evening comes, they do not want a morning paper containing the news of yesterday. They prefer an evening paper with the news of

Advertisers who want to reach the masses, the toilers who earn their money in Lowell and spend it in Lowell, should bear this fact in mind. The people who trade in Boston read morning papers. The people who trade in Lowell read evening papers, and the leader of all the local papers, is

One of the shocks that await some of our returning soldiers will be equal to any they met in war and of a nature for which there is no remedy. One such case has been forcibly brought to public attention in the return to his home of a sturdy Indian soldier known as "Private Dog-Eyes" who rendered gallant service in the war.

This Sioux warrior was called by Uncle Sam from his Rosebud cabin where aged parents tried their mightiest to "carry on" until the pride of their Redskin hearts came back. They couldn't understand this white man's war, and they couldn't understand how it was that some invisible hand reached away up into their South Dakota cabin and took Dog-Eyes, stalwart and strong, and their only child.

The other day Private Dog-Eyes came back, back to the camp where he had started his war adventure. The lieutenant called him to his tent and told him that while he was fighting so bravely and nobly over there, the angels of death had visited his mother and father. The little house on the prairies is empty now. Neighbors say that Dog-Eyes' father and mother died of broken hearts, each hoping to reach the "happy hunting ground" to which they thought their boy had already gone.

The government is going to give Private Dog-Eyes an honorable discharge and he is going—

"To where they lay," he said stoically, uncomplainingly.

Out on the wind-swept prairies of the Rosebud country are two Indian graves. In the nearby cabin window flaps a worn, home-made service flag. That is the story of Dog-Eyes' war sacrifice.

We have said much about the sacrifices of war, the brave boys who will never come back to saddened homes, those others who gave of their courageous bodies to achieve victory, and now we are reminded by the story of Dog-Eyes that many a war veteran will come home to find vacant chairs, hearts of loved ones stilled and their eyes closed in eternal sleep.

With them we sincerely sympathize and for them we invoke the healing aid which God and time alone can give.

It is a reminder that in the quiet haunts of peace death was busy as well as on the bloody fields in the mightiest conflicts of the war.

IN EMERGENCIES

Government ownership of public utilities is not to be commended except in extreme cases. The country, however, has had sufficient experience with government ownership to realize its value in emergencies. For example, if in the future a great railroad strike should tie up the transportation system of the country, the people would not regard with such trepidation the assumption of control by the government. In reality, it is utterly absurd to allow the interests of the public to be completely ignored in such a case, while the government stands idly by to see its counsels derided or defied.

It is to be presumed that after the railroads are turned back to private owners, there will still remain enough of government control to protect the public interests. The same condition should prevail in regard to all public service corporations. The time has gone by when the rights of the people can be trampled under foot by any class or on any pretext whatsoever. Government authority properly asserted in the interests of the people offers protection in such cases; but permanent government ownership would involve evils fully as great as government control may sometimes prevent in extreme emergencies.

The world war was a great emergency and to enable the railroads to meet the transportation needs of the nation the government took over the railroads and with good effect. In due time the government will turn the roads back to the private owners, but under widely different regulations as to the plan of operation.

BANISH THE THUG

Judging from recent news in police circles, there seems to be a tendency to lawlessness among the youth of the city. This may result from lack of employment or from an idea possessed by some young men that they can live without working. Others seem to think that the community owes them a living and that if they cannot get it in a lawful manner, they will resort to other methods. It remains for the police department to suppress any tendency of this kind and to keep track of the young men who lead idle and dissolute lives.

It is rather unfortunate that many of our police officers seem to go around with their eyes open yet seeing nothing. Most of them are sadly lacking in habits of observation. They might well take a few lessons in the valuable art of detecting criminals from Lieut. Martin Maher. It may be, however, in some cases, that the officers do not care to invite trouble by following up criminals and preventing wrongdoing in the districts in which they are assigned. An officer who continues at any violation of the law is unfit for the service and should be removed. Rather do we assume, however, that the worst fault of the Lowell police officer is carelessness, but this must be overcome if the department is to stamp out lawlessness wherever it may exist in any part of the city. The laxity of some officers counteracts the vigilance of others and injures the whole department.

If every police officer, high or low, did his full duty, the gangs "thing" would find no abiding place in Lowell.

THE AUDITORIUM

The plan proposed by the directors of the board of trade for a public memorial to the men and women who served in the war and to take the form of a great Auditorium, has been well thought out, as the bill presented to the legislature indicates.

"The Lowell Auditorium," as the building is to be known, will answer a double purpose. It will, first of all, serve as a fitting tribute to the men and women who offered their lives in the service of their country, and will also supply the very great need for a public hall in which public meetings can be held. The lack of such a hall has been a serious handicap to our city ever since old Huntington Hall was burned down. As a result, the masses of the working people have missed many sources of education through public lectures which would have been held but for the difficulty of securing a hall. Moreover, the Auditorium will offer accommodation to conventions that require large space such as the Elks, the Eagles and other fraternities.

The form of memorial proposed is, therefore, one in which a patriotic duty is united with public necessity. The ordinary soldier's monument is commonplace, as are many other forms of memorial adapted mainly for commemorative purposes or for the ornamentation of public squares. The Auditorium is the proper idea and when the building shall have been completed, Lowell will have admirably overcome one of her principal drawbacks in the past.

TRADES FOR SOLDIERS

If the announcements in recent stories from Camp Devens be true, it appears that the war department has arranged to turn many of the cantonments into military universities in which the soldiers are to be taught a variety of trades, each man to be assigned to the trade for which he is best adapted.

That is a splendid idea as it may help many of the men to find something better than they had before entering the army. But if this training be offered only on condition that the men enlist for a definite period, it may not be so acceptable as would otherwise be the case.

If the soldier is to be given any special training, why should it be given only on condition that he shall part with his freedom and bind himself to future service?

Just at present, there is no certainty that any army will be needed after the peace conference has ended its work. If not, it is presumed that the enlistments under this trade lure will not mean anything.

But at present they would mean that the government had a first mortgage on the future of the man who has enlisted. If he has to serve in the army, of what use will be the trade which he may learn to improve his opportunities in civil life?

PAY IDLE SOLDIERS

There is a feeling quite prevalent at the present time, that the government is guilty of ingratitude in turning the soldiers out to shift for themselves without money and, in thousands of cases, without the opportunity of employment for months after their discharge.

Every soldier on being discharged, should get at least two or three months' pay to tide them over the dull period and keep them until they manage to find employment.

At the present time, there are many discharged soldiers in Lowell who are unable to find work. They gave up their jobs to enter the service. Now that the war is over, they find they cannot return to those jobs, and hence they will have to spend some time in idleness. It would be only what these men deserve if the government paid them, say for a few months, so that they may not suffer during their unemployment.

Various schemes are talked of for the benefit of the soldiers, but none of them has reached the stage at which they amount to anything more than talk and speculation. Plans for the irrigation of waste lands in the west are in contemplation, but that does not help the soldiers just discharged from service. What is needed is immediate relief for which the prospect is rather discouraging. Our city government should keep track of the soldiers returning here and find how many of them go to work and how many remain idle. For the latter, something should be done and done without delay. These men apparently have a just claim on the federal government if they cannot find work.

THE RIVER PROJECT

Representative Javell is sponsor for the bill providing for the appropriation of a million dollars to meet the state's part of the expense of making the Merrimack river navigable. The time limit of three years is fixed to meet the possibility of delay. This money was voted before, but owing to the war, the project was abandoned.

As to the merits of the project, it is needless to bring up the discussion again. The points have been gone over so many times that they are familiar to all. It should be remembered that as a result of the war, the eyes of the people have been opened to the necessity of such improvements. In view of the progress in textile industries in other sections of the country, it is imperative to make the river navigable from Lowell to the sea in order to maintain the supremacy of the cities of the valley in textile production. The advantage of navigable connection with the ocean means a saving in freight rates, in the price of coal and other supplies which other states have at their doors.

It is to be hoped that the legislature will promptly act upon this measure, as it may be urged as meeting the necessity for public works to relieve the unemployment in the Merrimack valley.

HOW HE FELL

Cornelius P. Cregin, 19-year-old bank messenger, who vanished with a big bundle of Liberty bonds belonging to his employers in New York recently, tells the police that a burlesque actress was the cause of his undoing. "Connie" need not give out any such bluff as that with the hope of having anyone believe it. The fact is, that he had begun to gamble and as he had occasionally cleared up considerable sums in poker games, he was on the downward path when he met the actress. While at a burlesque show he said one of the actresses made "goo goo" eyes at him. He met her, took her to supper and then for a taxi ride and to repeat the performance he wanted money and found the chance when entrusted with $135,000 in Liberty bonds. Note the downward steps, first the gambler, then the libertine and next the thief; and for the rest of his days he will live under the damning stigma of his record that will follow him like his shadow wherever he goes. That's what happens to boys who yield to temptation.

THE "FLU"

It is well to remember that the "flu" is still with us and to take all possible precautions against catching it or rather against letting it catch us.

It seems that there is still too much freedom in attending wakes of people who die of the disease. There is a good deal of uncertainty as to how the disease is spread but the evidence that it is communicated from those who have it to others, is too strong to be doubted. Therefore, wise precaution is advisable in all cases in guarding against the disease. It is always a good preventive of disease to build up the health so as to increase the power of resistance and thus be able to cast off the germs when they attack us.

In selecting Frank J. O'Hare as agent for the board of health, Mayor Thompson could not have made a better choice. Mr. O'Hare is one of the most efficient health officials ever connected with the department. Moreover, he had been sharing the responsibility of the office so long with the late Agent Bates, that the appointment of anyone else to the place would have been a very grave injustice to him. He has well earned the promotion by long and faithful service. He is familiar with every phase of the agent's work.

Of course the fact that Paderewski plays the piano is sufficient cause to warrant his condemnation and death by the Bolsheviks. It is hoped for the sake of Poland as well as for the great artist and patriot himself that he will quickly recover and that his aspirations for a free Poland will be realized.

SEEN AND HEARD

The police ought to get after the teamsters who let their horses stand in the cold without blankets.

The only way to stop those coasting accidents is to prohibit coasting where there is the slightest danger lurking.

Two English words in which all the five vowels are to be found in proper alphabetical order are "abstemious" and "facetious."

Thanks to government control of the railroads, Chicago has the world's largest ticket office, with 760 feet of counters and 200 employees.

The railroad administration requires the railroads to pay $5000 for each new freight car, formerly costing $3000, and $55,000 for each new locomotive, formerly priced at $220,000.

Very Bright Woman

Mrs. Newcomb—Well, dear, I've found a flat, and the street cars go right past the door.

Hulley—Won't the noise disturb your rest, my love?

Mrs. Newcomb—O, the landlord assured me that I wouldn't mind it after the first two nights, and you know, dear, we can sleep the first two nights at mother's.

The Horrid Man

"That's done it!" thought the suburbanite when he saw his next door neighbor coming up his front garden path.

"I've come to see you about your dog," cried the visitor, approaching. "He has bitten my mother-in-law all over."

"I'm sorry," replied the unfortunate owner of the animal. "It isn't my fault. You had better sue me."

"CAN I BE CURED?" SAYS THE SUFFERER

How often have you heard that sad cry from the victims of disease. Perhaps the disorder has gone too far for help, but often it is just in its first stages and the pains and aches are only nature's first cries for help. Do not despair. Find out the cause and give nature all the help you can and she will repay you with health. Look after the kidneys. The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering and throwing off the poison that constantly accumulates in the system, everything goes wrong. GOLD MEDAL Blaudon Oil Capsules will give almost immediate relief from kidney and bladder troubles and their kindred ailments. They will free your body from pain in short order. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Look for the name on every box. In three sizes, sealed packages. Money refunded if they do not help you.

An amateur sailor was making his first trip across the Atlantic, and was in the throes of mal de mer when the ship's surgeon came across him.

"What's the matter?" was the doctor's callous query.

"O-o-oh," was the only response as the young man rolled over in agony.

"Come, get up," derided the surgeon, grinning unfeelingly. "The ship's been torpedoed and will sink in 10 minutes."

"Ten minutes?" the sick man protested feebly. "Can't you make it any sooner?"

Kluder How Deal

The orderly officer was on his usual round. "Any complaints?" His voice sounded above the din of knives and forks.

"Yes, sir," answered a healthy looking representative of the Tommy Atkins tribe. "This here blinking joint's raw!"

"Look here, my man," said the officer, after due examination, which proved this complaint to be justified. "Do you know that Capt. Webb trained on raw beef in order to swim the channel?"

Well, Anna Shaw, And is it so that you are a copper-lady?
That's just American as the stars and stripes.
You were a Shaughnessy or Grady?
Well, nature oar comes a-lon;
Even so my youthful mind would
Part time I longed to be a cop;
Part time I yearned to be a pirate.
But you? Why wish to wear a star
What that's exactly what you are?

But, as you go upon your beat,
Let no one flinch this wisdom from
You—your bonnet's "chie" and
"sweet."

Be sure your gown and coat become
Then, when you would arrest some rascal,
Apparelled in such fetching style,
Add nothing more (and that's enough)

Your very sweetest, dimpled smile,
No stammer by need then assist you
For how could anyone resist you!

Behind the Scenes in France

Back of the stage where our boys swept through to victory the real heroism occurs, there in the pain-worn hospital wards with no excitement to supply the glamour. It takes a real hero to be brave when the danger has gone and the days ahead look gray and dreary.

In France Clara Savage, foreign correspondent for Good Housekeeping, turned aside from the tide of men hurrying to the front, to do her part in a little hospital behind the lines. Listen to her story of just one of the heroes of the American advance:

A boy in the opposite corner of the room wanted a letter written. "To my girl," he explained in a low voice. "Bring your chair up close so the other fellows won't hear everything I say."

I obeyed, and the letter began. It was the simplest and most straightforward of love letters. The writer did not search for polished phrases; the words came tumbling out faster than I could write them, straight from the heart, beautiful in their sincerity.

Then he said something about their having a little house of their own some time, and there he paused.

"Would you tell her?" he asked me. "What?" I asked, taken by surprise.

His head was done up bandaged so that only one eye showed; his right arm was in a sling. He dismissed the arm wound as nothing. "I'll be all right," he said. "I can work for her, but I've lost my right eye, and my face is badly disfigured."

I couldn't say anything for a minute. I felt the other eye watching me. Such courage and pluck and straightforwardness as were in that look!

"It must be pretty hard for a girl to have a man come home mutilated the way I am," he said. "Do you think it will make a difference to her? Do you think a girl can love a man with a face that has been all smashed to pieces and a glass eye?"

"There was only one thing to say, and I believe it is the truth. I said: 'If she loves you, she won't care what your face looks like. She loves you because she found you fine and good and worth loving, and she will love you more now because you are so brave.'"

"Then I'll tell her," he said. And tell her he did, gently but as truthfully as he had told me. As I wrote these words that some girl in America will read, I lifted her from the bottom of my heart, and yet I knew that if she is the kind of a girl that boy thinks she is, she will be brave and will love him even more now, because he so much needs her love.—January Good Housekeeping.

next but a companion building in another part of the Highlands, down near the Middlesex street line or over in the direction of Middlesex Village, to take care of children living in that section. Some of the commentators argue that there's no great wisdom in tacking on which will be filled up school now which will be filled up within a few more years. Some of the pupils who attend the school now have to walk quite a distance and it is claimed that the Boston & Maine people are making improvements in that section of the city which will make it thrive even more than it has been doing. They are of the belief that a brand new school house will be the most economical proposition in the long run, but whether the term "new school" will awe the city fathers enough to frighten them, while a mere "annex" is less inspiring in its probable cost, remains to be seen.

"How do you like the Bay State increasing its fare," a citizen asked a deskman on one of the Lowell papers? "Fine," he replied. This caused some wonder and he was asked to give an explanation of why the fare boost pleased him. This is what he said: "I really needed exercise and I neglected getting it for myself. As everyone knows walking is one of the best kinds of exercise you can have but it was so easy to hop on a car and ride home for a nickel that I spent the nickel and passed up the chance for the exercise. When the Bay State thought it would charge five cents a day more I planned my daily route so that I started from home a little earlier and instead of arriving at the office and my desk feeling as the English say, 'Top hole,' that's why I say the Bay State's boosting its fares suits me fine."

Lucky indeed are those Lowell men who, when the mill where they work closes down Friday night, know some place off in the country where they can hike to and earn perhaps seven or eight dollars chopping cord wood, at the same time enjoying the good fresh winter air and perchance, some excellent country food. The Sun is printing quite a series of brief interviews from well informed men in the community and it occurred to me that about town that enforced spare time is something that can be turned into thrift—meaning turned into money—for it is better to devote spare time to some work than to complacently wait for Monday morning to come around again.

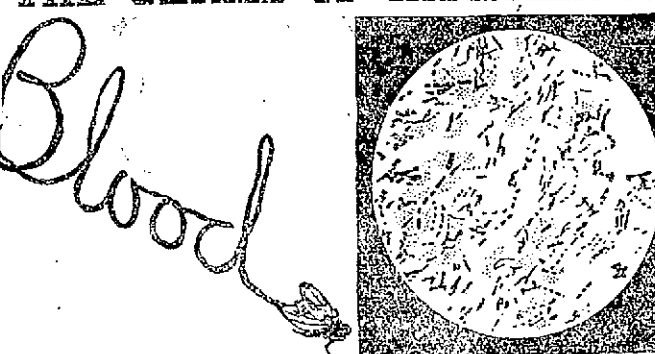

I find there are many people looking forward with considerable eagerness to the Matthews Glee club minstrels which take place at Associate North Jan. 14. I guess it is a pretty good thing to have a show. The chorus will have 60 female and male voices and there will be about 10 soloists. The interlocutor of the club will be John Sharkey. There will be three men and three end girls on each end of the circle. Bernard Bourke is the musical director and Walter O'Neil will be the pianist. The Glee club evidently gives good measure when it starts out to entertain for I note that after about an hour of good minstrelsy, there will be about four hours of dancing. This show is an annual event with the Mats and past reputation ought to bring them a good audience.

That was a mighty fine meeting to officially take a stand for the independence of Armenia, that Lowell Armenians held at the armory last Sunday afternoon and somehow or other one thing that struck me between the eyes, so to speak, and sticks in my memory was something our good superintendent of schools, Hugh Molloy said. I refer to this paragraph in his address: "I consider myself honored in being present as a guest at your meeting. Here is a meeting whose object is such that many different Lowell men and women should feel they, too, have an interest in coming here. I know that if I were a man interested in the wrongs of Poland has suffered. I could come to this meeting and find common cause with you. I know that if I were a man who believed Great Britain had not been just to Ireland, the spirit of this meeting would be a congenial one for me to meet. I know that if I were a Jew and remembered the age old persecutions of my race, this is a meeting whose air would seem sweet to me."

The Armenian people and the English-speaking people gave Mr. Molloy a fine reception at the conclusion of his talk because of his great earnestness and interest in the subject of Armenia's wrongs.

The announcement that K. of C. Secretary George E. Sadlier, a Lowell boy, has been transferred from Camp Devens to a new and more important berth as a K. of C. representative at Bunkin Island, to signalize the opening of a new K. of C. building there is not only a tribute to his executive ability and his personality as a secretary, but is an indication of how well our estimable friend George fits with the leaders in this praiseworthy war work of the League of Catholic Women. I am of the opinion that Secretary Sadlier was the ideal man for his position, uniformly courteous and considerate to soldiers and civilians alike, and as an executive in handling men seemed to be to the honor of his order. It is because of such splendid, clean-cut chaps as George Sadlier that returning soldiers from across the seas and discharged soldiers at home get out unscathed over the wonderful work of the great order of Knights of Columbus.

THE GERMS OF INFLUENZA

The Influenza Bacilli are exceedingly small, those shown in the above cut being magnified about 600 times, under the microscope. After these germs get into the blood, and we suffer from Influenza, the disease leaves us with thin, watery blood—weak, anaemic, and unable to do our accustomed work.

What's to be done in such cases? Put iron in your blood and the cells become round and red. They lose the irregular shape and you gain in vim, vigor and vitality. The best combination of iron for the blood is in the form of a new iron tablet, put up by Dr. Pierce, called "Ironie." You will find, instead of pale cheeks, feelings of lassitude, tired, worn-out before the day is half done, after taking "Ironie," your cheeks will have color, you will feel strong and vigorous and ready for the fray. Start now and you will be surprised how full of vim, vigor and vitality you will feel in a few short weeks.

Keep the system in good order, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air and practise cleanliness. Remember a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels are a protecting armor against disease. To keep the liver and bowels regular and to carry away the poisons within, it is best to take a vegetable pill every other day, made up of May-apple, aloes, jalap, and sugar-coated, to be had at most drug stores, known as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. If there is a sudden onset of what appears like a hard cold, one should go to bed, wrap warm, take a hot mustard foot-bath and drink copiously of hot lemonade. If pain develops in head or back, ask the druggist for Anuric (anti-uric) Tablets. These will flush the bladder and kidneys and carry off poisonous matter. To control the pains and aches take one Anuric Tablet every two hours, with frequent drinks of lemonade. The pneumonia appears in a most treacherous way, when the influenza victim is apparently recovering and anxious to leave his bed.

Lieut. Alfred D. Gustafson
Back From France—Was Awarded Croix de Guerre

Another Lowell officer has returned from France with an interesting tale of activities "over there." Lieut. Alfred D. Gustafson, who has been cited for the Croix de Guerre, arrived here last evening from Long Island, N. Y., and will spend a leave of several weeks with his mother, Mrs. Elma Gustafson of 45 C street.

Lieut. Gustafson was formerly gun sergeant of Battery F of the 102d field artillery but just before leaving France was assigned to the 145th field artillery.

The work of Battery F at St. Etienne is ably described by the Lowell officer. The 26th division was in the front line and just behind them were the 102d artillery and other units. The Germans came over in a mass and the battery fired continuously from midnight until one o'clock the next afternoon. Every kind of artillery was used and it didn't cease until there was no more ammunition. Then it was found that the Germans had been driven back.

The battery boys got their first taste of shell fire on the road to Chemin des Dames, according to Lieut. Gustafson. He said everybody felt like turning back but this was impossible so they kept on. He says that the boys have very little fear of shell fire because they know how to duck the projectiles, and is the big bugaboo.

The lieutenant was detailed to an officers' school at Saumur near Paris last April as a result of his bravery at St. Etienne. He remained there from April to October when he was assigned to the 145th artillery with a battery which had been in France only a short time. He was located just north of Bordeaux when the armistice was signed.

Lieut. Gustafson was awarded the Croix de Guerre by General Passard of the 32d French army corps. He was also given a citation in French. This states that the Croix de Guerre was awarded because of his bravery under fire. The officer pays a fine tribute to the men of the 26th division and says that his own gun crew was composed of the finest bunch of men that ever lived. They were all from Lowell and among them, Paul Crappell, William Crenshaw and William Thompson.

DISCHARGE MEN OF 12TH

1500 of Them Examined at Camp Devens—301st Field
Artillery Expected

CAMP DEVENS, Jan. 14.—The first men of the 12th division to take a single step toward their discharge under the new demobilization order went through yesterday afternoon. There were 1500 of them, all married men or others with dependents, and they have received their physical examinations. Now all that remains for them to do is to sign their final statements, receive their pay and travel money, and last, but not least, their honorable discharges. Then they are civilians again and will return to peaceful pursuits, weeks sooner than any of them really expected to.

The 301st Field Artillery, that belated crowd of New Englanders who have been expected here almost daily since they arrived in New York Jan. 6, have been running things up as far as the discharges of men at this camp are concerned. The other day when Capt. Tait's organization broke all records for a single day's discharging work, it was the intention of the authorities to get the New England Artillerymen out before they hit into the division. Now, however, it has been decided that at least a part of the division is disposed of, for the 1500 men who were examined yesterday will probably be discharged Wednesday.

It is highly probable that the artillery men will be sandwiched in between groups of the division men, as it is the policy of the war department to send the overseas men to their homes just as quickly as possible. At any rate, further official word regarding the 201st was received last night, and it is believed that this is final. The 301st Field Artillery, the first regiment of the 76th division to return to this country intact, will positively arrive at this camp Wednesday morning, and the regiment arrived at Hoboken headquarters has been besieged with inquiries regarding their whereabouts and date of arrival here.

Proud of Drafted Soldiers

Officers of the 76th division training cadre, who arrived here late Saturday night and who immediately went to their homes for over Sunday, returned to camp yesterday. What they had to tell caused many of the New Englanders here to swell with pride over the record made by the drafted soldiers of New England.

They declare that most of the men of the 301st, 302d 303d and 304th Infantry regiments who were taken for replacements were sent to the 1st division, supposed to be Pershing's Own, and according to the men of that outfit the cream of the entire regular army. They say that these New Englanders were sent to the 16th, 15th, 26th and 28th Infantry regiments, which outfit comprise the 1st division. They measured up to the best of our regular army, these officers say.

The officers in the 76th Training Cadre are Capt. Harry S. Holcomb, 301st Ammunition Train, Burlington, Vt.; Lt. Ralph B. Newhall, 302d Machine Gun Battalion, Lynn; Lieut. D. B. Cullinan, 303d Machine Gun Battalion, Concord; Lieut. Leon Boudreau, 303d Infantry, Wakefield; Lieut. B. Van G. Davis, 302d Infantry, Ware; Lieut. W. V. Higgins, 303d Machine Gun Battalion, Lawrence; Capt. Henry P. Briggs, formerly adjutant of the 302d Infantry and later assistant to G-4 of the 1st Infantry, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Capt. Charles S. Case, Winchester, and Capt. Geo. S. Clarkson, Roxbury, both of the 304th Infantry. They will probably be discharged before the end of the week.

If you will learn to give Cascarets, the candy cathartic, to your children, instead of castor oil, calomel and pills, you will save money, and avoid lots of worry, coaxing and sickness. Truly!

When one of the kiddies has a white tongue, a tainted breath, sour stomach or a cold; when bilious, constipated, feverish, remember, a sweet candy Cascaret to quickly "work" away the nasty bile, sour fermentations and poisons should always be the first treatment given.

Children really love to take candy Cascarets and they never gripe the tender bowels, never injure, and never disappoint the worried mother. Give Cascarets to children one year old and upwards. Each 10 cent box contains full directions for children and adults.

Forces to their pre-war ranks, or perhaps one grade above their pre-war rank, has already begun overseas. Both the brigadier generals who commanded infantry brigades of the 76th division when it left for overseas have been reduced to colonels, Gens. F. D. Albright and Evans. Both served with the 84th division overseas. It also became known yesterday that the company funds of the 304th Infantry, amounting to something more than $15,000, will have to be turned over to the United States treasury, as that regiment was unable to get its company fund checks cashed in France up to the time the men of the regiment were sent to other units.

THE STRAND THEATRE
Large and appreciative audiences attended the performances at the Strand theatre yesterday afternoon and evening, and all were loud in their praise for the bill which is being offered for the first three days of the week. As usual the program is headed by two interesting and very enjoyable photo-dramas, while there is also a clever comedy as well as musical selections that prove very pleasing. The University of the Air features pictures of President Wilson and his party abroad while the Chester Outing reflects on the screen something new, interesting and instructive.

"Sylvia on a Spree" is the feature drama production of the program. It is a bit of screen entertainment that is sure to please everybody. The picture in the stellar role of Emma Whelan, the noted film star, who has never been as much at home as she is in this delightful play. The story of "Sylvia on a Spree" is that of a young girl brought up in luxury and sheltered ease, watched over and protected on all sides. When she makes her debut in society she discovers that she has missed much of the fun and excitement which other girls, possessing less wealth, are accustomed to. She decides to remedy this and plans a trip through the busy district of New York, her itinerary including Broadway, the Bowery and the East Side.

Before she is through with her trip, however, she discovers that vice is not nearly so attractive as she thought. The climax is reached when a raid is made on the place where she is stopping and with many others she sees herself brought before a justice of the peace court, where she is told that her next appearance will mean a sentence of 30 days on the island, and that ends the girl's experiences are indeed very interesting.

The other drama is entitled "Love in Spanish Influenza More Deadly Than War"

AMUSEMENT NOTES
LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
The Emerson Players are giving a good presentation of "The Call of the Heart" this week at the Opera House, and two company audiences witnessed the play yesterday. One of the most remarkable things about these Emerson players is the fact that they give so smooth a performance and read their lines so unobtrusively even on the first presentation of their weekly bill.

"The Call of the Heart" deals with a young American girl who marries an English nobleman, although her heart belongs to a big wholehearted citizen of the U.S.A. The years pass and she grows to regret that she allowed her mother to persuade her into a loveless marriage. How she keeps a little miss from "God's country" from finding out the same thing, which her own experience set for her, and how she finally found her own happiness, makes one of the sweetest stories ever told. Although the play has its pathetic moments, there are touches of comedy which keep even in the most serious parts, and the final curtain was drawn last night amid a perfect gale of laughter and applause. But to appreciate the real worth of the play, one must witness it for one's self.

Miss Salisbury is given an opportunity to again display her remarkable versatility, and taking advantage of the part plays her role in a manner that causes her to be an actress of exceptional ability. The character which she portrays, that of Lady Everlove, wife of the English nobleman, calls for natural charm and sweetness. Miss Salisbury possesses these qualifications and consequently gives the part the way the author intended it should be presented.

Julian Koa, as "Comrade Jim," who all his life has loved Lady Everlove, has a part that demands considerably dramatic talent, and he possesses everything necessary to give the role a finished interpretation. His acting throughout the entire performance is of a very high standard, and he shares with Miss Salisbury in carrying the play to a very successful and happy climax.

Others who take part in this pleasing production are Mr. Kerwin Wilkinson, Mr. Thomas Carroll, Miss Elizabeth Ferris, Miss Alice Glenister, Miss Marion Chester, Mr. Arthur Buchanan, Mr. Arthur LeRue, Mr. George Bryant, Connor and Mr. Augustin J. Glaspiere.

Director Glaspiere's selling and production of "The Call of the Heart" deserves a special word of commendation. One can merely say that it showed plainly the work of a real

PRESIDENTS DIE YOUNG

Our Great Men Do Not Live as Long as They Used To in Olden Times

Our presidents die too young! So says Professor Irving Fisher, professor of economics in Yale University, and chairman of the business reference board of the National Life Extension Institute.

The passing of Colonel Roosevelt is the latest example of this sad situation.

Furthermore, our presidents do not live as long after assuming office, as they used to.

Professor Fisher has prepared the following article and table of statistics to bring these facts before the American public.

BY PROF. IRVING FISHER, Professor of Economics in Yale University; Chairman Hygiene Reference Board, Life Extension Institute.

The unexpected and sudden death of ex-President Roosevelt reminds us

once more of the regrettably high mortality of our public men.

Mr. Roosevelt became president in September, 1901, at the age of 43, the youngest age among all of our 27 presidents. According to the American experience table, used by life insurance companies, the "expectation of life" at the age of 43 is 26 years.

But President Roosevelt lived only 17 years beyond the age at which he became president—that is, he lived out only 65 per cent. of his expectation.

That President Roosevelt should live less than two-thirds of his expectation is surprising, because of his supposedly great vitality.

Were his case exceptional, our surprise would not be great for nothing is so uncertain as death, and Roosevelt's death may be due to his infection in South America, to which no other president has been exposed. But we find that premature death is quite the usual thing among our presidents as well as our vice-presidents, senators and congressmen.

The long-lived presidents all belong to the first half of the nation's history and the majority of the short-lived ones belong to the second half.

If we group the presidents under four successive periods, approximately equal, and omitting the three who were assassinated, we have the following table:

First period	Four Presidents	156 per cent.
--------------	-----------------	---------------

Second period Eight Presidents 84 per cent.
Third period Seven Presidents 64 per cent.
Fourth period Five Presidents 60 per cent.

The table shows that the longevity of our presidents, omitting the two who were murdered, is only 64 per cent. of that expected according to the insurance table. Moreover, this, in turn, is less than two-thirds the expectation of the insured lives of today, which are longer than the American experience table indicates.

Note also that the longevity of our presidents seems to be diminishing with the increasing complexity of modern life in Washington.

We find the same apparent tendency among the vice-presidents. In fact, the vice-presidents seem to live out a smaller fraction of their expectation than the presidents, excluding the influence of assassinations.

This fact (if it be a significant fact) rather than an accidental incident in so small a number of lives) would suggest that the official, social and convivial life at Washington is a heavier life-shortener than even the heavy responsibilities of office.

The five presidents of Yale University, for substantially the same period as that of the above table, show a longevity equal to 137 per cent. of their expectations.

"For six years we have used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in our family and feel we could not possibly do without it, especially for the children." (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mrs. Earl Cowell, Cement City, Mich.)

Children become constipated as readily as do their elders, and the result is equally distressing. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal for children because of its pleasant taste, positive, yet gentle, action, and its freedom from opiates and narcotic drugs.

GERMAN CITIES QUIET CREATING INTEREST IN CHURCH GOING

Temporary Government Has Apparently Overpowered the Spartacans

BERLIN Sunday, Jan. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—Order has been completely restored in cities outside of Berlin where the Spartacans had established themselves, according to reports received here today. Spandau, which has been placed under martial law, is quiet. Fifty-five soldiers have been arrested, one of their leaders killed and several wounded. All have been disarmed.

Spartacan leaders at Hamburg have been arrested by military police who had difficulty in protecting them from enraged citizens. The situation there, however, is still tense. Spartacan leaders at Dresden, when arrested, admitted that they had intended to prevent elections to the national assembly forcibly.

Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Spartacan leader, has fled from Berlin to Leipzig, according to advices received here. Chief of Police Eickhorn, according to the Vorwarts of Berlin, had fled to Denmark. The government at Berlin has issued warrants for the arrest of Dr. Liebknecht, Rosa Luxemburg and Eickhorn. The war minister is quoted as saying that loyal troops have begun a search for arms with a view to disarming the population of Berlin.

Members of both government and Spartacus faction in Berlin have been court-martialed and executed, according to a wireless despatch from Berlin picked up here.

The despatch confirms reports that a son of Dr. Karl Liebknecht has been arrested and that Rosa Luxemburg, Dr. Liebknecht's chief lieutenant had fled from Berlin.

PAUL ALSO SEIZES
K. of C. Secretary George Sadler, who has been transferred to Bunkin Island, has three brothers in the national service instead of two as had been previously supposed. In addition to Fred and Charles, Private Paul Sadler is also serving his country with an artillery unit.

The first conference of the young men of the Protestant churches of Lowell and vicinity was held last night at the Kirk Street Congregational church. This movement for the purpose of creating in young men a greater interest in their respective churches is original and the sessions last night proved to be very successful.

Twenty-six churches were represented and 135 delegates attended the conference. The Federation of Churches was also represented, and many visitors were present. Following an early session at 5.30, a banquet was served in the vestry by the ladies of the Kirk Street church under the direction of Mrs. Howard Foster. A turkey supper with all the "fixins" was enjoyed at 6.30, the boys from the various churches making known their presence by special "yells."

A rousing address was given by J. Blaine Withee, community secretary, of Lawrence, who has been very active in boys' work and has recently devoted much time among the non-English speaking men in his city. He rendered valuable assistance in creating enthusiasm to carry on the campaign among men and boys, in the interest of church activities. It was voted that at the expiration of three months' time, the committee would meet again to make reports of progress. The following were nominated to be responsible for general supervision: President, James Chalmers; vice president, Osmond Coburn; secretary, Donald Perron; treasurer, Douglass Walker.

At 5.30 Rev. J. E. Kennedy of the First Presbyterian church conducted the meeting. At the banquet Rev. W. C. Townsend of the Worthen Street and Central M. E. churches, offered the prayer and Rev. W. F. English, Jr., pastor of the Kirk Street church acted as toastmaster. At the later session an interesting feature was the reading of papers which had been written by young men, and dealt with the subjects, "Should a Young Man Attend Church?" by James Chalmers, and "How Can We Get Young Men to Attend Church?" by J. Milton Washburn. The meeting was then thrown open to general discussion and each speaker was allowed a limited period of time. The closing address, "A Challenge," was given by Rev. W. E. Woodbury, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church.

LOWELL CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

Several more Lowell cases were tried in the superior criminal court at East Cambridge yesterday afternoon besides those tried in the morning.

Armon J. Rocheford, who had been sentenced to the Concord reformatory at yesterday morning's session on a charge of breaking and entering, had his case reconsidered in the afternoon and his sentence revoked. He was given four months in the house of correction.

Jeremiah Dorgan, charged with the theft of an automobile, the property of Harry Livingston on Nov. 2, was sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction.

Another charge brought against him was that of not stopping his machine after an accident to see what damage had been done and six more months were tacked on to his sentence.

A third indictment, charging him with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor was dismissed.

Alice Merrill, charged with drunkenness, was placed on probation for three months.

James Arthur, charged with breaking and entering the property of Frank Scott on Nov. 4 and stealing five pounds of sugar, pleaded guilty and was placed on probation upon the payment of expenses.

Charles Bourke, charged with being implicated in the same break, was placed on probation.

Alfred Daniel, charged with breaking and entering the property of Joseph Suprenant, was surrendered by the probation officer, but was given one more chance and again placed on probation.

BIG KNIT GOODS TRADE IF PRICES CUT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—If prevailing war prices are cut this year's business in knit goods and hosiery will reach "enormous proportions" according to members of the Jobbers' Association of Knit Goods, who are having their convention here. It was asserted that big crops and general prosperity existing throughout the country at the close of the war indicated "almost limitless" buying capacity on the part of the public. A large increase in export business also was predicted.

The consensus of opinion of those attending the convention was that to provide their citizens with home-made is embodied in another bill.

One bill provides for the adoption of resolutions in favor of Irish independence.

Another provides for the improvement of the state highway in Dracut and Methuen.

The authorization of cities and towns

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tickling cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known as the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ONE PINT

MAYONNAISE DRESSING
Yolks of two eggs 1 teaspoon salt
2 cups Mazola 1 teaspoon mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar Dash cayenne
Juice of 1 lemon

Mix seasonings and add to beaten yolks of eggs. Beat with small wooden spoon or silver fork. At first add oil drop by drop, beating vigorously. When too thick to beat add 1 teaspoon vinegar. Continue to add oil slowly, alternating with vinegar and lemon juice, until at least 1½ cups of oil has been added. Onion juice may be added if desired.

If the oil is added too rapidly, the dressing separates and has a curdled appearance. In case it does, put yolks of another egg into clean bowl, and beat in the curdled dressing slowly. After half cup of oil has been added, dressing may be beaten with a Dover egg beater and oil added more rapidly.

—do you know that Mayonnaise made with Mazola does not separate easily?

MAZOLA is the ideal salad oil. It is not affected by cold weather, which often makes salad dressings curdle when mixed with other oils.

Try Mazola the next time you want to make an exceptionally delicious French, Mayonnaise or Russian dressing.

More economical to use than olive oil, it is preferred by thousands of good cooks who take a particular pride in their salad dressings.

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandergine hair cleanse." Just by this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandergine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandergine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Dandergine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair. Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and the Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two percent of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as inflexible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet.

I get results and this ends all argument.

DR. NAUGHTON will positively be at the New American Hotel Wednesday, January 15th, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

FIGURES DEFEND Y.M.C.A.
Organization's War Work
Chamainag Accounts Work
Done for Soldiers

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The most emphatic answer that the Young Men's Christian association can make to charges of profligacy which have been made by returning soldiers, is that the organization has distributed, from $1,000,000 worth of material supplies, William Sloane, chairman of the organization's national war work council, said in a statement issued here yesterday.

This total, he said, is exclusive of a loss of $222,181 in operating soldiers' stores in Great Britain. Mr. Sloane said his statement was based on a carefully checked report from Mr. Carter, chief secretary of the organization in Paris, and that the figures do not include the post-exchange deficit for November and December.

Mr. Carter in his message stated that his figures are "undoubtedly substantially below actual distribution," as they include only the value of goods, and not the cost of the goods. He said that even excluding rentals and clerk hire, for which no charge was made, the Y.M.C.A. conducted its campaign at an actual loss.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT
WIRE DISPATCHES

ALBANY, Jan. 14.—The senate today by a vote adopted a resolution requesting New York's representatives in the United States senate to vote for the federal suffrage amendment. Senator Saxe of Albany announced that the resolution was an insult to Senator Wadsworth, an anti-suffragist.

LAWRENCE, Jan. 14.—Weiner's fur shop was robbed of goods valued at $15,000 during last night, thieves entering an entrance by breaking a skylight, 10 feet above the floor.

ROSTON, Jan. 14.—Application for a warrant for the arrest of William Roulter, former teller at the Manufacturers' National bank of Cambridge, who is alleged to be short $77,000 in his accounts, was made at the federal building today by Chief Clerk Egan. Roulter was taken into custody recently at Montreal. It is expected that he will be turned over to federal authorities soon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Col. George F. Stewart, commanding the American troops in the Archangel sector of Russia, in a message received at the war department today under date of Jan. 11, reported that he had made a personal tour of the wide front over which the American army is stationed and found the general health, discipline and morale of the men excellent and their clothing and equipment ample.

Total deaths from all causes among the force, which numbers about 8000, were given as six officers and 121 enlisted men.

BLUEJACKETS NEEDED TO MAN HUN SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Naval demobilization plans are in abeyance and recruiting for the permanent service is being pressed now so that the navy be prepared to man big German merchant ships which the allied war council is considering allowing to aid in the task of bringing the American army home from France. Secretary Daniels said today he had been in communication on the subject with Admiral Benson at Paris and was confident that the necessary personnel would be supplied for the enemy craft.

HEN AND TRU ARE TO TALK AT LENGTH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Taking up Henry Ford's contest of the election of Truman H. Newbury republican, to the senate from Michigan, the senate elections committee today decided to invite both parties to appear personally or by counsel, Friday.

It has been found that the largest liners in German ports will furnish transport capacity for 70,000 men a month.

In connection with recruiting Mr. Daniels said it was anticipated that many young men now in the service and eager to be discharged, after a short period at home, would again feel the call of the sea and re-enlist.

CITY EDITOR KILLER
IS GIVEN 20 YEARS

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Charles E. Chaplin, formerly city editor of the New York Evening World, who killed his wife on Sept. 16 last, today pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to state prison for a term of 20 years to life.

A lunacy commission had adjudged him sane. He himself maintained that he was sane and had expressed a wish to pay the penalty for his crime without trial.

In a recommendation to the court that Chaplin's plea to second degree murder be accepted, assistant District Attorney Talley said that in view of the circumstances of the crime, and Chaplin's age, 60 years, it was doubtful that a verdict higher than second degree murder would result. If he were brought to trial for first degree murder, no motive could be shown for the crime, he said, except that the defendant feared exposure of the financial wrong doing and the consequences of disease which he feared might end in death or insanity.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Special issues furnished the only features at the listless opening. Standard shares received little attention. United States Steel opened unchanged, but soon rose a small fraction, the preferred stock also hardening. French government bonds rallied from yesterday's setback, but flour bonds were irregular.

PROHIBITION SWEEPING
ENTIRE COUNTRY

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Ratification of the prohibition constitutional amendment by five states brought the number which have ratified to 29.

The states which took action today were Indiana, Arkansas, Kansas, Illinois and North Carolina. Ratification by seven more states, making 36 in all, is required to make the whole country bone-dry, unless the distillers are successful in proving in court that the laws of 15 of these states require a vote of the people for ratification.

Five states in one day is the highest record since the process of ratification began.

HENRY AGAIN SLAMS
MEAT PACKERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Francis J. Henry, who acted as special counsel for the federal trade commission in the investigation of the meat packing industry, was a witness today before the senate agriculture committee, which resumed its hearings on the bill providing for government control of certain facilities of the meat industry, including cattle and refrigerating cars.

He asserted that the big packers not only had a monopoly of the meat business in the United States, but also controlled the industry in other countries as to be able to manipulate prices at home. His testimony dealt largely with information made public in the federal trade commission's report.

WANT BOARD ABOLISHED
N. H. Governor Says People's Will Subordinated

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 14.—Governor John H. Bartlett this afternoon read a special message to the general court appealing for the passage of the administration bill for the betterment of the state institutions. He said the law establishing the board deprived the governor and council of power and destroyed the power of the people by subordinating their elected representatives. The tendency shown by this legislation he called a dangerous one.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The distillers' committee recently named to fight national prohibition, effected a permanent organization today and announced the line on which an attack through the courts would be made.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW RAILROAD
Boss Writes Own Story of His Life

BY WALKER D. HINES
New United States Director General of Railroads

I was born at Russellville, Ky., Feb. 2, 1870. My father was James M. Hines, a son of Warren Walker Hines of Bowling Green, Ky. My mother was a daughter of Walker Downer, a member of the family of Downers living in Christian and Todd counties.

W.D. HINES

While I was born in Russellville, practically all the first 13 years of my life were spent at Bowling Green, Ky. I was educated at Ogden college at that place. After being at that college for two years, when 14 years old I went to work as a stenographer in the law office of James A. Mitchell and John E. Du Bose.

When I was 16, Judge William L. Dulaney appointed me official stenographer of the circuit court for Warren county. Shortly thereafter I returned to Ogden college and two years later graduated with the degree of bachelor of science.

DENTER, Me., Jan. 14.—A sensation was created in this town yesterday when discovery was made that during the past two days the receiving tomb at Mt. Pleasant cemetery in this village had been broken into and eight or nine caskets containing bodies opened.

Entrance to the tomb, which is built of stone and brick, was gained by sawing off a heavy staple into which a padlock was fastened. The padlock had been thrown away by the vandals. The discovery was made by a local undertaker who had occasion to visit the tomb.

COMMENT ON INTER-ALLIED BOXING BOUTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Interesting comment on the recent inter-allied boxing bouts in London is beginning to reach this country by mail and it is apparent that British fight fans have taken the defeat of their little idol Jimmy Wilde by Pat Moore, the American sailor, very much to heart. A number of London papers, after long and minute analysis of the Albert Hall match, vigorously assert that the judges were at fault in giving Moore the decision.

Wilde himself admits that he won. "It's over and done with," says he. "I'm certain I won. I did win. From first to last I never had the slightest doubt that I was beating Moore, and when they said I'd lost, I had the shock of my life. I was struck dumb. When I got to my dressing room you could have knocked me down with a feather. I almost fainted. But it's no good making any fuss."

LOWELL BOY MANAGER

Victor Rochette Will Manage Boston College Basketball Team—Games Arranged

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Boston college, after a lull of more than a year, is about to take up basketball again. Victor Rochette, '19, of Lowell, who is to manage the team, has secured St. Mary's gym in Cambridge in which to try out the candidates. The team has not received the sanction of the athletic authorities yet, but the students hope the sport will be allowed.

The college has a wealth of material for a basketball five, since many high high school students at Newton. In former years men on the football team were not allowed to take part in basketball, but it is thought this rule will not be in force this season, so that several football stars who are also strong on the basketball court will be able to play.

Manager Rochette has signed up Harvard Radio for a game Feb. 14. A game or series of games with Tufts is hoped for, since the Tufts management announced yesterday that basketball was in favor at Medford.

Among the candidates for the team are Urban of football fame; Gallagher, Mahoney, Henry Miller, center fielder; Joe Healey from Providence, and Jack Lyons, tackle of last year's football eleven.

Urban was a member of the Fall River aggregation which won the New England championship several years ago by defeating Boston College High. Jim Fitzpatrick, big, all-around athlete, is expected to come out for the basketball team, as is also Tom Gately, formerly star at B. C. High and English High.

NOTED SPRINTER DEAD

Lieut. Charles A. Rice Dies as Result of Severe Wounds

Received in Action

UNBRIDGE, Jan. 14.—Word was received by letter yesterday from Commander Stephen Rice of the U. S. Navy, that his son, Lieut. Charles A. Rice, the noted sprinter, died in a British Expeditionary hospital in France Dec. 22. Death resulted from a severe wound in the thigh which he received in action while taking part in a drive in Flanders, where his regiment was brigaded with the 5th British army. The first news received of his injury was in a letter received by a sister, Miss Jennie Rice, Oak street, which stated that Lieut. Rice was wounded and resting comfortably at the Stationary Hospital No. 2, B.E.F.

Since that time, as the weeks and days passed, the family here had hoped that the excellent physique of Lieut. Rice would bring him safely through. He was a native of Unbridge, born Jan. 3, 1892. He attended the public schools and while in the high school was a member of the baseball and basketball teams, playing center. After completing his high school course he attended Powder Point academy, Duxbury, where his sprinting abilities were discovered and developed by Coach John Magee, afterward coach at Bowdoin and now in charge of athletics at all naval stations in the Maine and New Hampshire districts. While a member of the Powder Point track team in 1912 Lieut. Rice qualified in the 220-yard dash for the Olympic games to be held at Stockholm, running second to Craig of Michigan. Unfortunately the sickness of a brother prevented him from going abroad, but he completed in a number of big track events in this country the same season. He ran a dead heat with Howard Drew at the Amherst games, having timed in 9.4-8. He was a consistent 100 m. man in the century dash and had few equals in the country at the furlough distance.

He entered Maine university in the fall of 1912, and while at the Orono school was a prime favorite and soon made an enviable record for his alma mater by breaking the Maine interval record for the 220-yd. dash, as well as being a big net-potter for the college in every meet in which he took part.

His record established in 1914 still stands. In his senior year he was chosen captain of the track team and was one of the most popular men in larged and a broad grin, and several other of the contestants were nursing disfigurements but all were happy. In toasting the competing teams, General Fielding paid a warm tribute to these young soldiers.

"Never before in the history of the world," he said, "has such a boxing tournament been held as that which has been concluded. It was a tournament symbolical of the great war which brought men from all parts of the world to fight in the cause of right and justice. You men have taken part in an epoch-making event, and one that never will be forgotten. It brought the English-speaking races together to engage in a great national sport."

Lieutenant-Colonel E. M. Cox, captain of the American team, drew a round of applause when he declared: "We of the American team believe Jimmy Wilde to be the greatest boxer the world has ever seen, or will ever see. We have seen such a gathering of champions which we may never see in any competition again, and now have honored us by inviting us to come over and compete for such a history-making trophy as that presented by the king of England. I consider that Mike O'Dowd is our greatest fighter, but as he is no speech-maker, I would ask Sergeant Eddie McDermott to say what O'Dowd would like to say for his comrades."

The renowned McEntee rose bashfully. "Everybody has fought like me," he said. "I was not successful, as you know, but I would like to say that I could not have lost to a better fighter or a finer sportsman than Billy Wells, who sits here on my right."

The Maine colleges. He also tied the record of the Maine college in the century sprint, but this was disallowed on account of a helping wind. He was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

He enlisted immediately after his graduation and was sent to Camp Devens, where he was soon advanced to corporal and later to sergeant. He went overseas late in 1917 from Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C., where he was attached to Co. C, 9th Brigade, Machine Gun Corps of the 5th division.

Beside the father he leaves two brothers and four sisters.

NO ADDITIONS TO THE GRAND CIRCUIT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Schedule and rules committees of the Grand Circuit Stewards' association met here yesterday and arranged light business and racing dates for the coming season and discussed other plans for increasing the popularity of the sport.

It was said last night there will be no changes in the circuit this year and that the race meetings will be held in the cities now making up the circuit in the same sequence as last season.

Application to reduce entrance fees was discussed, as was also the suggestion to adopt the three heats to a race plan.

CHAMPION SKATERS IN ICE CARNIVAL

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—J. Stanley Rogers, chairman of the racing committee of the New England Skating Association, announces that the Grand Circuit Skating association will enter four men in the events of the ice carnival to be held on Jamaica Pond tomorrow night, under the auspices of the park and recreation department. They are W. M. Merritt, J. Stanley Rogers, John LaRocca and Walter Thorne.

One or more of these skaters will be entered in each event. Merritt is the New England one mile champion and Rogers holds the two mile title. The four skaters won the New England relay championship at Pittsfield last winter. The quartet is out with a challenge to race any team in New England in a relay race.

One of the best little polo scraps that was ever pulled off in Lowell is due this evening when Salem, who is leading the American Polo league by a scanty half game will buck up against Lowell, second place holders, for the leadership of the league.

All eyes will be turned Lowellward this evening because on the game depends the supremacy of the entire circuit. Lowell had the honor of leading the league for a few brief hours Sunday and Monday but then Salem got going down Worcester way last evening and gave the Jiggers a 15-6 trouncing. As a result the boys from the Witch city scampered into first place by a hair.

Providence is still on the heels of the leaders and any pleasant evening may see the Rhode Island men jumping into the lead. New Bedford, Worcester and Lawrence must take a decided sport if they are to do anything before the season ends.

However, the center of attraction for this evening, ladies and gentlemen, is our own little polo establishment. Third street and every indication points to a record breaking crowd to witness a record breaking contest.

LEE FOHL—PITCHERS MADE TO ORDER

Introducing Lee Fohl, a major league manager who develops his own pitchers. The leader of the Cleveland Indians believes in getting his hurling staff direct from the minors, and training them himself in the way they should go. Results have proven his ability. Of the five premier slammers of the Indians, but one, Fritz Coumbe, came to the club from another major league team. Stanley Coveleskie was transferred from Portland, in 1916. He had had a trial with Connie Mack in 1912, but was turned back. On coming to Cleveland and under Fohl's training he has become one of the stars of the American league. Guy Morton, who came to the Cleveland club from Columbus in 1913, and who was only an average pitcher in 1914. Since then he has become one of the best southpaws in the league.

Crescent A. A. Matchmaker Wants Another Bout Between Hartley and Bogash

Matchmaker Martin Flaherty is keeping the wires hot in an effort to get Pete Hartley of New York and Louis Bogash of Bridgeport signed up for another go at the Crescent A.A. two weeks from next Thursday evening, Jan. 30. The smashing 12-round bout that the boys put up at the Crockett club last Thursday evening will long remain in the minds of local boxing fans who saw them and their meeting again would undoubtedly bring one of the biggest houses that Lowell has ever seen at a scrap. Mr. Flaherty has received letters from both men promising to fight, and he is sure that he will have a good fight. It must have been a very close one for the reason that your newspapers are very fair in their reports and I have also received letters from Lowell people to that effect. They express the opinion that Bogash should have had a draw. However, this only makes it more interesting. Flaherty is in touch with the manager of both Hartley and Bogash and has offered them the date mentioned for a return bout. Something definite in the way of a decision should be forthcoming in a few days.

NIGHT OF SUBSTITUTES AT THE CENTRAL A. C.

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—It was a night of substitutes at the Central A. C. last night. In one bout Kid Lee of Chelsea was substituted for Dan Kramer against George Proto of New Haven and it proved the best contest of the night. There was action in every one of the 16 rounds. When the referee declared Proto the winner there was a howl, as the greater part of the fans feared Lee should have been given the decision.

Johnny Burns of New York, who was billed to meet Charlie Parker of Boston, failed to appear, and Battling Lupulo of South Boston, substituted. Wig the latter is called "Battling" is a mystery, for after Parker had given him a beating, the referee stopped the bout in the third round.

Passy Astley and Battling Roddy of New York were scheduled to meet in the fourth round, but Astley would not come on because he was too tired. He was replaced by Brandy of New Haven and he won by a knockout in the second round.

In the opening bout Charlie (Chick) Miller of the South End outlasted Simon Mike of New York so much that the referee stopped the bout in the second round. Miller was the winner.

On Monday night Paul of New York and Fred Dyer of Wales will box in the feature bout, and Johnny McGowan and Youngie Gibbs in the semi-final.

Pick Grah to Win Harry Grah, the sensational Pittsford middleweight, will be at the Army A.A. tonight, where he meets Lou Houck in a 12-round bout. It will be the first time the local fans have had a chance to see Grah in action. They expect he will defeat Houck, but hope that the latter will give him a good argument. The bout is attractive to a large audience. Grah left Lancaster yesterday for Boston.

There will be three other bouts. In the opener Tom Leahy will box Joe Collins.

THE MATHEWS Bowling league held forth last evening at the Kittredge alleys, and four hot contests were rolled off. Each team had arrived well supplied with rosters, and needless to say, they all did their damndest to pull their favorites over the wire. The Red Sox won from the Senators, the Athletics proved a puzzle for the Indians, and the Tigers, after one of the closest contests ever rolled on these alleys, finally secured a winning margin over their opponents, the Yankees. 12 STATES HAVE FLOOD OF LABOR NOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Unemployment of common labor now exists in 12 states, as against seven a week ago, says a message today from the National Council of Defense to its state councils, which are urged to do everything possible to find employment for these needing it.

"The situation as to common labor has materially changed since the armistice was signed," says the message. "Instead of there being a shortage of labor throughout the country, there is unemployment of common labor in 12 states as against unemployment in seven states one week ago."

"The 12 states in which there is a surplus of labor are California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon and Utah. The country's surplus in all labor seems to follow a belt across the country from Connecticut to Minnesota."

"The area of unemployment is increasing and it is probable that the danger point will be reached within 30 days. For that reason the secretary of labor request that all state, county and community councils of defense bend every effort toward finding or creating necessary employment during the transition period. Please continue to give every aid to the employment service and the bureau for returning soldiers."

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS BRIEF MEETING

The municipal council held a brief routine meeting this morning and the principal business disposed of was the extending of leave to withdraw to various claimants.

The meeting was called at 10:15 with all members present. A hearing on the petition of Israel Greenberg for garage and gasoline in West court was held and James E. O'Donnell appeared for one of the respondents, Jake Gardner. Mr. O'Donnell said that his client owned considerable tenement property in that district and that the establishment of a garage would prove a real hazard. The matter was finally referred to the commissioner of water works and fire protection.

The annual report of the inspector of animals, Dr. William A. Sherman, was read. It showed that the inspector had examined 255 cows, 11 young cattle, four bulls, three goats and 288

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 14.—Mayor Baker with county and state officials today considered measures to be taken against members of the newly organized local council of workmen, soldiers and sailors, should they attempt any concerted action without official sanction.

The council was formed last week and, according to information given to Mayor Baker, was made up of I.W.W. and disorderly elements with some discharged soldiers and sailors, who were said to be without funds and were being sheltered and fed by the organization.

Reports that the council at a mass meeting held Saturday had threatened to seize the armory, arm themselves and seize the heads of the local government, led to the assembling of the county guard Saturday night and Sunday at the armory.

AIR TRIP NEARLY COST LIVES OF FOUR

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Four men in a Blimp balloon, which went adrift from the naval aviation station at Chatham, today, escaped by jumping just before the balloon was carried to sea, according to a report received at headquarters of the first naval district here. One of the men, an officer, was said to have been injured.

The men were reported to be Lieut. Griffin, Naval Photographer Brorsen, Ensign Lang and Wallace N. Edwards. Naval officials thought it likely that the men had opened the valves and released gas sufficient to bring them near enough to the ground to jump. After being relieved of their weight, the airship shot into the air and when last seen was at an altitude of about 4000 feet. She was then about 20 miles off Chatham.

When last seen from Orleans, the balloon was going northeast at about 20 miles an hour. Submarine chasers and other naval vessels were ordered out and points along the coast, particularly in Maine, were instructed to be on the watch for it.

In going adrift, the dirigible carried away telephone wires near coast guard station No. 40, at Orleans. On account of this interruption of communication, information as to the accident was meagre here.

The Iroquois will leave today to locate the abandoned steamer Castilla, the crew of which were taken aboard the Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord yesterday.

League of Nations

peace conference. It has now been decided to issue a joint communiqué, prepared by a committee representing all the nations, this to be the sole official outgoing. President Wilson has also decided to communicate with more than 100 representatives of the American newspapers in Paris through the medium of a publicity agent. Ray Stannard Baker, a former magazine writer, has been selected.

The plan, as announced today, is for President Wilson or some member of the American mission to communicate to Mr. Baker such details of the proceedings as are not embraced in the communiqués and which the president desires to make public. Mr. Baker conveying the information to the correspondents. The correspondents will not have original contact with the source of information.

A feature of the meetings yesterday and Sunday was that for more than two hours the discussion was conducted in French, of which neither President Wilson nor Secretary Lansing has a conversational knowledge and which Premier Lloyd George understands only to a limited extent. All the conversations concerning the renewal of the armistice were conducted in French.

Premier Learns English Ideas

Before his departure for Paris, Premier Lloyd George was given a memorandum by the associated chamber of commerce, embodying the views of chambers in all parts of the country regarding peace terms. The following points were urged:

Payment by the enemy of all war expenses.

Compensation for loss of property and damage to property arising out of the war.

Compensation for all personal injuries, including pensions to disabled men, women and children.

Compensation for the loss in national power caused by the death or disablement of patriotic producers and by the disorganization of means of production and transport.

Payment of all enemy debts and interest on all charges from the date they are incurred until final payment.

Wilson Brazil's Friend

The French press today gives President Wilson credit for the decision by which Brazil obtains three delegates to the peace congress and for that placing the number of committees at five instead of at 20, as the French proposed.

Brazil was given three representatives, Belgium, Serbia, Greece, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and China were assigned two each. Portugal and the states which did not declare war upon Germany but merely broke off diplomatic relations were given one each.

The Figaro says that when the question of the publicity of treaties and secret diplomacy was discussed, President Wilson, while supporting the majority in favor of secrecy, expressed the opinion that treaties should be made public, although the negotiations leading up to them called for the exercise of a certain discretion.

Concerning the representation of each country at the peace congress, the Temps says that the first idea was to make the number of plenipotentiaries proportionate to the importance of the role played by each of the great powers. It now appears that this method has been abandoned and that the conference is inclined to adopt as a criterion the importance of the interest held by each allied or associated power in the regulation of peace.

It is not yet certain that the British dominions will have delegates other than those from England. It was at first announced that the dominions, considering themselves real nations, desired to have distinct representatives.

France, Great Britain, the United States, Italy and Japan will each have five representatives in the peace conference.

gress. This was decided today by the supreme council.

The British dominions will be represented apart from Great Britain, Canada, Australia, South Africa and India, will have two representatives each and New Zealand one.

The size of the representation of each nation was decided, not as proposed by the French. In accordance with the part played by the nation in the war, but following the American and British plan, in proportion of the extent of the interest of each nation in the peace settlement. President Polk will open the plenary session of the peace congress on Saturday with an address after which officers will be elected.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 14.—Unless the war department receives notice of the error in its records, one Portland hero who has paid the supreme sacrifice overseas will never receive official recognition. Private Elias H. Lotley now sleeps in Flanders' fields, "killed in action," but the marker over his grave reads Pvt. John S. Murad.

Less than 17 years old, Lotley was turned down by the recruiting office when his mother refused her consent. He changed his name to Murad, lied patriotically about his age, and determined to enlist. Finally succeeded. It was Mrs. Fannie Murad, 219 Congress street, whom the war department notified of her son's death, but it was Mrs. Fidia Lotley who received the telegram that bore a pathetic little secret. "It was the only lie he ever told," says a friend. "I guess God will forgive him."

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

Better Than Hot Water Bag or Bottle
